AINSWORTH IS ON RETIRED LIST

President Acts Promptly on Application Action Is General Surprise

PRECLUDES COURTMARTIAL

To End Friction House Plans to Consolidate Warring Army Divisions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Adjutant General Fred C. Ainsworth, who was relieved of his office on charges assumed to be those of conduct prejudicial to good order and discipline today was placed on the retired list on his own application. This precludes the possibility of a court martial. President Taft approved General Ainsworth's application because of the officer's 37 years of service.

Friends of General Ainsworth in the house of representatives, who resented the charge that the general had been surreptitiously giving information to the military affairs committee, were planning to institute a thorough investigation into the war department. Chairman Hay of the committee said that so far as he was concerned, the officer's decision ended the agitation in congress.

The house, however, disclosed its interest in the controversy by adopting amendments to the army bill, which was passed, providing for the consolidation of the offices of the adjutant general and of the inspector general with that of the chief of staff. It also consolidated the supply departments of the army under a general head.

Mutual Friends Induce Action.

Mutual friends are said to have prevailed upon General Ainsworth to take the course he did. His communication was carried to the war department by Senator Warren, of Wyoming, chairman of the senate committee on appropriations, but formerly chairman of the [illegible] committee. It was dated today and read:

"To the acting adjutant general of the army:

Sir—Having served continuously for more than 37 years as a commissioned officer of the army, and being worn with the heavy burden of care and responsibility that I have borne for many of those years, I do not desire, in any circumstances, to retain longer the position that I now hold on the active list of the army. I, therefore, respectfully ask to be relieved from active service and to be placed on the retired list, under section 1243 of the revised statutes.

Very respectfully,
(Signed) F. C. AINSWORTH,
Adjutant General.

This letter was submitted by Senator Warren to Acting Adjutant General McCain. It passed successively through the hands of General Leonard Wood, chief of staff, and Secretary Stimson and finally was submitted to the president.

Prompt Reply by President.

President Taft promptly forwarded the following note to Mr. Stimson:

To the Secretary of War:

Upon his own application, Maj. Gen. F. C. Ainsworth, the adjutant general, is hereby retired under section 1243, R. S., and the proper order may be issued.

(Signed) WILLIAM H. TAFT.

Secretary Stimson instructed General Wood, as chief of staff, to issue the necessary official order. This directed that General Ainsworth be retired, officially, "upon his own application."

[illegible]NERAL SERVICES FOR [illegible]E AND VICTIMS

U. S. and Cuba Join in Arranging Impressive Obsequies For Next Month

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Impressive funeral services for the bodies of sailors recovered from the wreck of the battleship Maine and for the remains of the battleship itself have been arranged by the United States and Cuba.

Shortly after March 4, it is expected the twisted mass which has lain 14 years in the Havana harbor mud will be towed out into the gulf of Mexico and sunk. The armored cruiser North Carolina and the scout cruiser Birmingham, with the recovered skeletons aboard, will convoy the Maine to its final resting place.

As the two cruisers take the wreck out into the gulf, the batteries of the North Carolina will fire a salute of 21 guns. The shore batteries of Cuba will answer as the procession steams out to sea. When deep water is reached the crews will be called to quarters, a funeral march will be played, three volleys will be fired and as all that is left of the old Maine disappears, a bugler will sound taps.

The North Carolina and the Birmingham, with colors at half mast, will steam away for Hampton Roads. There the remains of the sailors will be transferred from the North Carolina to the Birmingham, which will bring them to Washington for burial in Arlington National cemetery.

President Gomez has issued a decree calling for elaborate ceremonies in Havana as the ships leave the harbor. Flags on all Cuban military posts and public buildings will fly at half mast.

When the bodies are taken to the North Carolina in the morning, the shore batteries will begin an all-day firing of cannon which will continue every 30 minutes until sunset.

JUMPS FROM BROOKLYN BRIDGE WITH PARACHUTE

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Fred K. Law, who jumped with a parachute from the upraised arm of the Statue of Liberty not long ago, performed a similar feat today in a leap from the Brooklyn bridge. The parachute did not open fully and Law hit the icy water of East river with a crash, but came up quickly and was hauled aboard a tug.

Law avoided the police by going out on the structure in a taxicab and springing over the railing before anyone could interfere.

ALASKANS CELEBRATE MILD WINTER WITH BIG DANCE

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 16.—A cable to the Post Intelligencer, from Dawson, Yukon, tells of a great outdoor celebration held in the Klondike metropolis last night in honor of the mild winter in Alaska and the Yukon. The celebration was called "Dawson's midwinter open air thermo dance," and was attended by everyone in the town and the surrounding camps. The band played "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," and other "tropical airs."

Many dancers appeared in straw hats, linen dusters and other summer garments.

"Would Expel Mother Again:" "My Daughter Is Ungrateful"

It was for the "welfare of the chapter," and not because of an alleged fight over the indorsement of "Turn Your Face to the Sunlight, etc.," as the national song of the American Woman's league, that caused the expulsion of five members from Pikes Peak chapter at a short but sizzly session Thursday night.

"The song had absolutely nothing to do with our action," declared a member of the executive board last night. "The song was purely a personal matter between Mrs. Maude McFerran Price, who composed the music and dedicated it to the league, and Mrs. T. M. Pates, former treasurer, one of those expelled."

[illegible] McMillan, who with Mrs. C. A. Eldredge and Mrs. A. O. Blad[illegible], constitutes the executive board which [illegible] the expulsion of the five [illegible], voted to expel her mother, Mrs. H. M. Shepard, along with the others.

"I have nothing to apologize for, nor have I any regret because of my action," declared Miss McMillan last evening. "What I did was for the benefit of the American Woman's league and for the good of Pikes Peak chapter. Had I not been an officer of the chapter, I do not think I would have voted one way or the other. As an officer, I had no other alternative. I believe that I did my duty, and that, under the same circumstances, I would do the same tomorrow."

"Just what is meant by the 'welfare of the chapter?'" was asked. "What did the five members do to cause them to be expelled?"

Miss McMillan laughed. "What does it mean?" she repeated. "Why, it means just what it says—'for the welfare of the chapter.' We know what it means, and the five who were expelled know what it means. That is all that is necessary."

"Session Very Smooth."

Miss McMillan declared that the meeting Thursday evening was just the opposite of the reported "stormy session," saying that it lasted only about 10 minutes, and the whole proceeding was conducted "smoothly."

To all intents and purposes the arrangements to throw the five alleged "disorganizing spirits" out into the cold night air was carried to a completion without the semblance of a hitch, barring the wordy war. It was a case of 40 against 5, but the 40 took no chances, for a policeman in plain clothes was hidden away in an alcove ready to jump into the fight should any lady so far forget herself as to attempt any Jim Jeffries tactics. But the copper really wasn't needed: glances of the well-known dagger brand flashed about the room at Mrs. Eldredge's house, but none of them took effect. The short and ugly word also was in evidence, it is understood.

"Tell me this," demanded one of the

COLORADO'S FIRST WOMAN LAWYER IS FOUND DEAD

Miss Ann Hunt Was Kneeling in Attitude of Prayer When Stricken, Probably Died Sunday.

DENVER, Feb. 16.—Kneeling in an attitude of prayer, the body of Miss Ann Hunt, Colorado's first woman lawyer, was found in her home today. The woman was wealthy, and gave liberally to charity, but lived the greater part of her 62 years of life alone. From the manner in which her clothing and prayer book had been laid out in the room in which she died, it is believed that she had been stricken by apoplexy last Sunday.

Miss Hunt was one of the first expert law stenographers in New York city, whence she came to Colorado in 1880. She was the first woman to be graduated from the Denver university law school.

OPPOSED TO PARCELS POST

Western Retail Lumbermen's Assn. Also Passes Resolution Asking for Early Trial of Government Suits.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 16.—The Western Retail Lumbermen's association went on record today as opposed to the parcels post. The resolution attacking the proposed system asserts that adequate relief can be had by the reduction of express rates.

The association, by resolution, urged that the suits begun by the federal government against lumber dealers organizations in the middle west be brought to an early trial, "that the American public may be fully informed that the retail lumber associations and their secretaries are entirely innocent of any illegal act or restraint of trade within the meaning of the Sherman antitrust law."

Another resolution protests against the action of the interior department in authorizing the sale of cement and lumber to water users on reclamation projects.

RAILROADS TO CONFER WITH THEIR ENGINEERS

Committee of 12, Acting for 40 Companies, Will Take Up Demand For Wage Increase.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—A conference committee of 12, representing 40 eastern railroads, will meet union representatives to discuss the recent demand of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers for increased pay. The meeting probably will be held next month.

This announcement was made today by A. W. Sullivan, secretary of the conference committee, which will act concertedly for the railroads east of Chicago and north of Norfolk and western railroads.

Warren S. Stone, head of the engineers, was notified by letter that the railroad representatives would meet the brotherhood representatives, and it now remains to fix a date.

The increases asked by the engineers are from 25 to 50 per cent, and, if granted, would mean an aggregate annual increase to payrolls of $10,000,000. Although nearly 50 roads are concerned, it has been decided to handle the situation as far as possible through the conference committee of 12 vice presidents and general managers.

IDEAL MAN, THROUGH EYES YOUNG WOMEN

Minister Will Read Letters From Springs Maidens on Proper Sort of Youth

"What is an ideal young man?"

This will be the subject discussed at the First Christian church tomorrow evening by the Rev. S. E. Brewster. He will read in connection with the lecture, letters from about a dozen young women of this city who have ideas of their own [illegible] constitutes real manhood.

The Rev. Mr. Brewster is giving a series of sermons on love, courtship, marriage and divorce and will take up the attitude of the people of this country as he has compared it with the ideas and practices of other nations. He has traveled all over the world and has made a close study of social problems.

The Rev. Mr. Brewster believes that the western people enjoy better [illegible] conditions than those of eastern states, but the attitude of the country generally is at fault. He says that [illegible] lessness of teachers and ministers is the cause of the downfall of many young men and women. They do not need restrictive, but constructive, help during their early years.

He declares that most divorces can be prevented by education, and hopes for an interstate law requiring the examination of couples entering matrimony.

SHERMAN GROWING WEAKER

The condition of Gen. L. E. Sherman, at an early hour this (Saturday) morning, warranted little hope that he would live until daylight. He is gradually growing weaker and the heart action is erratic. He has been unconscious for more than 36 hours.

It is hoped that two of his children, Miss Marion Sherman and Clarence Sherman, will arrive here today from California.

PROPOSED TARIFF WOULD HURT TYPEWRITER MAKERS

Representative Tells Senate Committee Manufacturers Would Be Forced to Locate Abroad.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Charles Straus of New York, representing interests which manufacture typewriting machines, told the senate finance committee today that the typewriter makers would be obliged to close up shop and do business abroad if their machines were placed on the tariff free list as is proposed in the Democratic steel bill. Much material used was imported, he said.

Robert Hearne, a sewing machine importer of New York, said there was no necessity for a protective duty on sewing machines, and that they could be manufactured cheaper in the United States than abroad.

MACK OFF STATE COMMITTEE

New York Democrat, Who Is Chairman of National Body, Forced to Give Up Part of Work.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Norman E. Mack today resigned as chairman of the Democratic state committee and George M. Palmer, former minority leader in the [illegible], was chosen his successor.

HAVE MURDER AND SUICIDE THEORY FOR KANASS CRIME

But Topeka Officers Admit Evidence Is Not Conclusive Look For Third Party.

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 16.—That John J. Rak[illegible] [illegible] stepdaughter to death and then [illegible] himself, is the theory expressed tonight by officers [illegible] on the double tragedy at the [illegible] farm near [illegible] yesterday, [illegible] theory does not [illegible] all the elements of the mystery.

An examination of the man's battered [illegible] powder [illegible] and [illegible] burns under the [illegible] ear. His cap was found 30 feet from where he fell, and between it and his body were bits of hair and blood spots, as though carried there by the explosion of the gun.

The head was so shattered it could not be determined definitely whether it had been beaten after the shot was fired. Only one recently fired gun shell could be found.

The officers have not given up their search for a third party in the crime, but today's developments did not bring forth new clews of importance. An examination indicated that the girl had been attacked by her stepfather, and one theory is that the man was slain by a third party who sought to avenge the outrage and accidentally killed the girl also.

Representatives of the state's attorney's office insisted the attempt to stop the execution and told Judge McKinley that the petition alleging insanity, which under the law is a bar to execution, was presented only for delay.

This was denied by counsel for the condemned men and a wordy altercation occupied the minutes in which the four were being prepared for the gallows.

MAY "TELL ALL THEY KNOW" OF PLOT

Some Defendants in Dynamite Cases Said to Be Preparing to Talk

PROSECUTOR IS OPTIMISTIC

Wouldn't Be Surprised if It Was Shown Negotiations Had Been Opened

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 16.—Intimations [illegible] have been received [illegible] that some of [illegible] dynamite conspiracy [illegible] to "tell all" [illegible] statements followed [illegible] charge that 40,000 [illegible] taken from the [illegible] showed that Frank M. Asked if negotiations had been opened [illegible] concerning the defendants, United States District Attorney Miller said: "I would not be surprised if it were shown soon that something like that had happened."

W. N. Harding, counsel for Ryan and [illegible] international officials of the [illegible] held a long conference with Mr. Miller today, but it was not disclosed what was considered.

Preparations for Trials.

Between now and the arraignments before Federal Judge Anderson here on March 12, the government will proceed with preparations for the trials, which probably will take place early in May. Some of the defendants reported in various cities as unable to secure bond may be brought here within a week. It is said the government will question as many as possible.

It is stated that while the government brought indictments only where it expected a conviction, many men were mentioned in the testimony who escaped indictment because of lack of evidence which later the government may come into possession of.

Ortie E. McManigal's confession, as to the dynamiting he did under the direction of J. J. McNamara is said by District Attorney Miller to be corroborated by the letters embraced in the indictments charging "consummated acts of conspiracy."

Ryan's letter written from New York in April, 1910, is cited in the indictments as showing he instructed Henry W. Legleitner, now of Denver, Colo., to do certain jobs, John T. Butler, the first vice president of the union, to do "jobs" at Buffalo and Rochester, N. Y., Hockin to do "jobs" at Cleveland, Detroit, Davenport, Ia., and Cincinnati; Paul J. Morrin, St. Louis, to do a "job" at Mount Vernon, Ill., and Frank C. Webb of New York to do "jobs" at Worcester, Mass.

Evidence Said to Dovetail.

The indictments charging "consummated" or completed conspiracies, allege that the "job" at Mount Vernon, Ill., was dynamited on the night of April 19, that the Davenport "job," a [illegible] structure of the company referred to by Ryan in a letter, was dynamited June 4, that the Peoria "job" was dynamited June 4, that the [illegible] was dynamited on June [illegible], that the Pittsburg "job" was dynamited [illegible] was dynamited at Kansas City [illegible] August [illegible].

Minister of War to Retire.

MONTEREY, Mex., Feb. 16.—That Gen. José Gonzales Salas, minister of war in the Madero cabinet, is to retire and will be succeeded by Gen. Geronimo Trevino, commander of the third military zone, is reported here in circles usually well informed. General Trevino, it is stated, recently was asked to consider the post but at the time declined on the ground of ill health. Since then it is asserted his health has improved and his appointment is expected.

General Trevino is regarded as one of the most popular officers in the Mexican army and, in point of service, one of the oldest. His appointment [illegible] political [illegible].

Without explaining how it was received, the government today gave out information that forces under Colonel O'Horan had defeated a body of rebels near Torreon, killing 70 and [illegible] killed and one wounded.

ATTORNEY GENERAL HAS EYE ON STANDARD OIL

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 16.—Attorney General Wickersham, who arrived here today, has informed himself of the fight the Standard Oil people are making to get control of the Waters-Pierce Oil company and to perpetuate the oil monopoly.

The attorney general was asked if he expected his department to take any action relative to the operations.

"It looks," he replied, "as if the Waters-Pierce people had been able to take pretty good care of themselves so far."

That a combination of men such as the Pierce interests alleged has been formed by the Standard Oil interests, might be guilty of a conspiracy in restraint of trade, he said, already was settled by the courts.

INTRODUCE 725 TELEGRAMS AT TRIAL OF PACKING MEN

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Seven hundred and twenty-five telegrams sent by T. M. Lee, manager of Armour & Co.'s beef department, and his assistants, in July and August, 1910, to eastern representatives, urging them to obtain higher prices for dressed meat were introduced in evidence by the government in the packers trial today.

"The government contends that the telegrams show that the memorandum cost was used by Armour & Co. as a basis for the selling price and that the eastern representatives continually urged to obtain this figure for their product.

Failure to obtain the memorandum cost resulted in the branch house managers being criticised severely. In many instances the Chicago office threatened to reduce shipments unless better prices were obtained. The government declares that by this system the prices were controlled.

CHAMPION MARRYING MAN OFF ON NEW HONEYMOON

Dr. Milton Abraham, Who Has Many Aliases, Get Funds for Trip From Mother-in-law

OAKLAND, Cal., Feb. 16.—It was learned today by the police that Dr. Milton Abrahams, alias Ernest Moore Conwick, alias Sir Harry Westwood Cooper, who bigamously married his sixth wife last Friday morning, had left with his bride within an hour after the wedding ceremony, for Victoria, B. C. Funds for the trip which combined the pleasures of a honeymoon with the necessity of evading the police who sought his arrest for having broken his parole from state's prison had been obtained from his bride's mother, Mrs. Herman Milbrath, who believed he needed money to tide him over until he could obtain claim on an immense estate in the east.

Abrahams' criminal record began in New South Wales, in 1893, when he was sentenced to 18 months for obtaining money under false pretenses. Since then he has been imprisoned twice in San Quentin penitentiary for forgery, and was paroled last October, after serving three years of his last sentence.

His marital record began in 1895 in Sydney, Australia. A year later he was married again and in 1897 his third marriage was celebrated at Toronto, Canada. In 1901 he was married at Crockett, Cal., the marriage being annulled later. In 1903 he was married in the San Francisco county jail to his fifth wife, who he deserted.

Under the name of Dr. Milton Abrahams he attempted to obtain $17,000 on a forged draft here recently, having arranged with the proprietor of a local hospital to purchase an interest. The bank suspected the draft and refused to cash it.

Abrahams is said to have boasted after his marriage in the San Francisco jail: "Give me a clean collar and a shave and I'll marry any woman in the world."

It is said today that he had spent an hour on the morning of his marriage to Miss Milbrath urging his suit with Miss Daisy Climm, superintendent of nurses in the hospital in which he was to have purchased an interest. Miss Climm refused him.

DRAMATIC SCENE AT TRIAL IN A GREELEY, COLO., COURT

Prosecutor Tosses $500 In Lap of Witness, Asking if It Was Used For Bribery.

GREELEY, Colo., Feb. 16.—Five hundred dollars in bills were tossed into the lap of E. C. Stevens of Chicago today, as he was on the witness stand in a criminal trial, and the attorney asked him if he had not given the money to his former partner, William Tilton, to buy Tilton's silence in the pending case.

Stevens was the main witness for the defense in the trial of Ex-County Commissioner E. J. Estes, who is charged with forgery and false pretenses. The case turns on the alleged delivery of lumber to Weld county, Stevens formerly having owned a sawmill at Lyons, Colo. Stevens testified to the fact of delivery. He denied that his partner knew of any of his dealings with the county and denied having paid the $500 to Tilton.

Following the dramatic court room scene it was brought out that Stevens had been arrested on a bribery charge as he was about to board a train for Denver.

Burning Film in Cripple Creek Theater Causes a Slight Panic; Little Loss

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 16.—The burning of a film in the moving picture machine at the Majestic about 10 o'clock tonight resulted in a slight panic among the audience, a number of women fainting. Prompt work on the part of the police and firemen, however, prevented the spread of flames and the excited audience was soon quieted.

The accident occurred during the last performance, the house being crowded. The platform on which the moving picture machine was located was wrecked. The extent of the damage to the building has not been estimated, but probably will be small.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 16.—While trying on her wedding gown, last evening, Miss Candelaria Gabaldon, of Atrisco, near here, received burns from the effects of which she died at 8 o'clock this morning. The young woman was standing before a mirror when the dress came in contact with a toy stove with which her little brother was playing on the floor. She was instantly enveloped in flames and ran from the house, being literally cooked alive by the time friends reached her. She was to have been married this morning.

Youth Carries Girl, Who Drank Poison, Through Streets to Physician

DENVER, Feb. 16.—Dying from the effects of poison taken with suicidal intent, Miss Pearl Deary, aged 20, was borne through a downtown street tonight in the arms of her sweetheart, Eugene Tully, who was rushing to a physician in an office building in an effort to save her life. The youth was followed by a large crowd as the incident occurred in the home-going rush hour. The girl was taken to the county hospital where she died a few minutes later.

Miss Deary took the poison on the street, after meeting the young man at a nearby drug store, when he told her that in accord with the advice of a priest he must sever his relations with her. The girl is the daughter of wealthy parents who live in Aspen, Colo.

PLUMBERS TESTIFY THAT COMPETITION WAS ENDED

Jobbers From Various Parts of Country On Witness Stand In So-called Bath Tub Trust Case.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 16.—Ten jobbers from various sections of the United States were placed on the witness stand today by the government in the trial of the so-called bath tub trust, charged with conspiracy in restraint of trade. The substance of their testimony was, that they were given an opportunity to sign the alleged trade agreements, that they refused to do so, that the manufacturers were in active competition prior to June, 1910, when it was claimed the price fixing agreement was signed, but after that the competition ceased.

Some of the same witnesses declared that as a result of the alleged agreement prices were advanced and that the advance told most heavily against the plumber.

YUAN CUTS OFF QUEUE

New President of Chinese Republic Modernizes Hair Dress Following Election to Office.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—"Yuan Shi Kai, the new president of the Chinese republic, today cut off his queue," says the correspondent of The Daily Mail at Pekin, telegraphing Friday. "He still, however, is unwilling to hurt the feelings of the Manchus, and deprecates the public rejoicing over his election to the presidency of the republic.

"The acting viceroy of the province of Chi Li has loaned Yuan $3,125,000 for his present needs."

PEKIN, Feb. 16.—In an interview with the Associated Press today, Yuan Shi Kai said:

"Owing to the lack of experience the republican government will make many errors. Having been elected president of the republic I will undertake the task."

Yuan Shi Kai said he had a great admiration for Dr. Sun Yat Sen, who had shown himself a true patriot.

Yuan is determined not to go to Nanking and is endeavoring to persuade the Nanking assembly that his presence there is not necessary, at the same time pointing out the dangerous possibility of the monarchical party endeavoring to reestablish itself in Pekin. He also told them of the threatening situation in Manchuria, where foreign intervention is probable if control is relaxed. There is also danger, he considers, of anarchy in the northern provinces and the Manchu troops are difficult to control.

The princes of the imperial court are beseeching Yuan Shi Kai not to leave Pekin, fearing something will happen to the court which trusts only to him for its safety and for the fulfillment of the pledges given by the republicans.

TOO TRUE

"Pop, what is the meaning of wine, woman and song?"

MUST FACE COURAGEOUSLY PROBLEM OF REGULATION

Wickersham Tells How to Establish Proper Equation Between Business and Law.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 16.—To establish the proper equation between 'business and the law,' Attorney General Wickersham, in an address before the Commercial club here tonight, declared that it now remained for the federal government to face courageously its problem by regulating corporation interests through the enactment of some adequate law of association.

"Under such a statute," he said, "there may be retained the great advantages of cooperative effort, conduct of business, at the same time protecting the people from the consequences of unrestrained association.

"Nothing but continued confusion can result from leaving the creation and regulation of these associations to the varying caprices of 48 or 50 states. Until the national government courageously faces the question and accepts the responsibility which the assertion of power involves, the proper equation between business and the law cannot be adequately settled.

"The essential principle under which alone can the people permit the existence of artificial bodies with large capital is the recognition of the power of the government as greater than that of any corporation or group of men, and the constant exercise of that power to preserve the rights of the humblest citizen as well as the richest.

"Probably negative, restraining legislation has gone as far as is necessary. The great principle that the highway of commerce shall be open to all on equal terms, like conditions and similar circumstances and that men may not band themselves together by unfair methods to destroy competition, is now fully recognized because of the law, and adequate means are provided to prevent violations of that law."

HENWOOD SEVERELY BEATEN

DENVER, Feb. 16.—Harold Frank Henwood, former globe trotter and slayer of "Tony" von Phul and George Copeland, in a local hotel barroom, is no more a special privileged prisoner in the county jail here. However, he is confined to his couch with his face and head badly [illegible] as a result of a fight today with [illegible] M. Goldman, a guard and said to be a former prize fighter. ADOPTS NAVAL BUDGET

French Senate Ratifies Program to Increase Number of Larger Types of Battleships.

PARIS, Feb. 16.—The senate voted the naval budget after Minister of Marine Delcasse had outlined the various important reforms in the navy which it was planned to accomplish.

It would be his aim, M. Delcasse declared, to add to the number of larger types of ships and increase the efficiency of the crew.

He said he had given special attention of the question of ammunition and that 600 tons of doubtful powder already had been taken to sea and sunk and that only absolutely reliable brands of explosives were being kept.

M. Delcasse added that he believed the French fleet constituted a formidable force calculated to make a possible opponent hesitate. The program calls for the expenditure of $279,600,000. The chamber of deputies adopted the budget last Tuesday.

Reports received today from Cuernavaca, included the fact that Colonel Robles, commander of the rurales, defeated four days ago near Jojutla, lost 29 men killed. The federals appear to be gaining ground in that region, but fights within six miles of Cuernavaca continue almost every day.

There will be no special session of the senate to authorize the president to send troops into Chihuahua through American territory. The permanent committee of congress voted the measure down and adopted a resolution saying:

"The situation demands no such action."

The same answer was given to a group of deputies who had petitioned the committee to call a special session of both houses, "to treat of the dangers menacing the country."

Plan to Advertise State With Photos of Undraped Women Puts Man in Jail

DENVER, Feb. 16.—That a picture of a nude woman on a business card, or of a woman draped in cheese cloth would attract the eyes of the world to Colorado was the argument of J. H. Mackley of 1738 California street, who devised a scheme to get the picture. Mackley was arrested last night by Human Officer Ransom and Patrolman Butterbaugh and held on a charge of investigation. H. H. Stiver, a photographer, Mrs. Matilda Mackley and Mrs. Alice McCurdy were also arrested and are being held as witnesses.

Mrs. Mackley, sister-in-law of J. H. Mackley, told Chief Armstrong that Mackley photographed girls from 13 years of age to women of 40. She said the purpose of the pictures was to make a book of the photographs and sell them. She said they also intended to exhibit the pictures at the San Francisco exhibition to prove that the Denver women were the best formed women in the world.

Mackley inserted advertisements in the Denver newspapers for an office girl. When the girl applied for the position, Mackley would tell her that he would give her a good position as his representative in any state in the Union if she would submit to having her picture taken nude. If the girl consented, Mackley would measure her, and if the measurements were up to what he called average, he would take the photograph.

Mackley, it is said, has been in the business for several months. According to his sister-in-law he has photographed hundreds of women of all ages. He would change the advertisement every Sunday, it is alleged, so the girls would not become suspicious. One Sunday he would advertise for a model, the next for an office girl.

MADAME COREA'S BENEFIT

By ALBERT C. PEARSON.

The benefit concert given in the Antlers parlors last night for Madame Corea was a distinct success. The applause was hearty and there were many encores.

Madame Corea is a trained artist. She has a fine stage presence and a big voice capable of dramatic intensity and of a lovely quality, especially in the middle register. She was at her best in the great aria from Der Freischutz. Her conception of this difficult composition was noble, both in the tender prayer and in the florid passages. Of her songs, "La Vie" and Kucken's "Heaven Hath Shed a Tear," the last with a clarinet obligato exquisitely played by Mr. St. Clair, were most effective.

Mr. and Mrs. St. Clair added much to the pleasure of the evening by their duets for clarinet and violin. They are artists, both, and think their music as one person.

Mr. Lyulph Stanley has a very sweet tenor, true and clear. He showed greater power in his climaxes than he has exhibited in his former appearances. As he becomes more accustomed to our altitude, I have an idea that his voice will take on a more robust quality.

Miss Trott's student orchestra must be a joy to her. They are an engaging bunch of youngsters, with plenty of enthusiasm, and follow their leader surprisingly well.

As to Victor Polant. If this talented boy will live laborious days, and, if necessary, sweat blood, he—who knows? His future is on the lap of the gods.

Mr. Tirle accompanied with discretion and sympathy.

AINSWORTH IS

and instructed him to proceed to his home. The order closed with the words, "The travel directed is necessary in the military service."

As a retired officer of his rank, General Ainsworth will draw an annual salary of $6,000. He will lose his allowance of approximately $2,000, which he had on active duty.

The voluntary application for retirement by General Ainsworth quashes any charges against him.

The unexpected turn of events, which came late in the afternoon, put an end to the department's preparations for the court-martial. Earlier in the day telegraphic inquiries had been made of a half dozen retired officers of his rank if they were prepared to serve on the court, while instructions had been sent to a line officer outside of Washington to report at once, presumably to officiate as judge advocate of the court. Judge Advocate General Crowder also had been busy putting in legal form the charges against the adjutant general.

Nullifies House Plans.

There was much surprise and some consternation among General Ainsworth's friends when word of his voluntary retirement reached the house. Unofficially, plans had been made to inquire into the methods of the war department through the medium of a congressional inquiry, and these were nullified.

Many expressed disappointment at the officer's action.

General Ainsworth tonight would discuss neither his action nor his plans.

With the avowed intention of putting an end to friction that for years has existed between the officers of the line and those of the staff, the house today adopted an amendment to the army appropriation bill, consolidating the divisions of the chief of staff, the adjutant general and the inspector general under one head, that of the bureau of the general staff. The chief of staff is to be the directing head of the proposed bureau with the other two officers as staff associates.

As another part of army reorganization, the house abolished five of the 15 regiments of cavalry, and on roll call, by a vote of 146 to 124, indorsed its action of yesterday in advancing the term of enlistment in the army from three years to five years. The army bill finally was passed by the house after a fight lasting several days.

ST. "WOULD EXPEL MOTHER"

majority members of a Gazette reporter last night, "tell me why the others intended to take a policeman and a lawyer to the meeting Thursday night. Huh?"

"You can search me, madam," replied the reporter, as he backed off into a corner. "I haven't the remotest idea in the world, and far be it that I should hazard a guess. The whole works is too deep for me. Why should they want a policeman or a lawyer at such a peaceful meeting?"

"That's just it," was the answer. "You don't know, but we do. That's why we had a policeman there ourselves."

"And it is true that these five who were expelled can never get back into the Pikes Peak chapter of the American Woman's league?" was asked. "Can't they ever belong again?"

"Never Again."

"Never again," was the reply, "that is, so long as we are in control of the situation. They are not expelled from the league, understand, but just from the local chapter. It will do them no good to write to the headquarters of the league in St. Louis, for our action was justified. They were simply expelled, and that is the end of the whole affair. There is nothing more to say, nothing more to do. The incident is closed."

"My daughter is a willful, ungrateful girl, who is directing her energies to support a lot of mischief makers," declared Mrs. H. M. Shepard, whose daughter, Miss McMillan, voted with the others to expel her from the club.

"She has been given every advantage, and her talents are not appreciated by the members of the league," Mrs. Shepard continued. "This whole trouble in the chapter is caused by a lot of childish old women, and a lot of young girls who feel too much responsibility.

"The meetings have been attended recently by about a dozen members, and they only sit around and gossip and refuse to transact any business. The trouble in the league started at the meeting held December 14, and the main source of the contention was over a correction in the minutes which the president refused to make in a resolution calling for the resignation of Mrs. Price as chairman of the lot committee."

"Mrs. Price's mother offered her $100 a month to resign from the club and to stay at home and mind her own business," is a statement which Mrs. Shepard declared last night had been made to her.

It was declared, yesterday, that the resolution calling for the expulsion of Mrs. Cora Brauer, Mrs. I. M. Bates, Mrs. Mattie Johnson, Mrs. F. S. MacJohnstone and Mrs. H. M. Shepard, was subsequently signed by 40 members who were present at the meeting Thursday night, and that the vote for expulsion was unanimous. Mrs. Brauer and Mrs. Shepard, it was said, were not at the meeting.

No Social for Them.

A social session followed the business meeting, and, it was brought out, the dismissed members did not remain for the social gathering. They put on their wraps and left the house almost immediately.

Miss McMillan, in addition to being treasurer of the Pikes Peak chapter, also is superintendent of the league for this state. It is understood that she will go to St. Louis soon, the league's headquarters, where she will assume the duties of superintendent.

It also developed yesterday that the song, "Turn your faces to the sunlight while the shadows fall behind," was inspired by the New Years greeting from E. G. Lewis, founder of the American Woman's league, which was, "Turn your faces to the sunlight." Although founder of the league, Lewis is not an officer. Men may belong, but they do not have the right to vote on issues. A number of men were at the meeting Thursday night, at Mrs. Eldredge's home, but they did not vote on the resolution of expulsion.

"It would not have made any difference," said a member of the chapter last night. "The men were with us; every one of them was on our side, so the fact that they could not vote made no difference in the final result."

the petition to be filed until it had been read. The prosecutors insisted that the petition, which was signed by Rev. Repinski, was not in accord with the facts.

Judge Landis did not rule on the case of the evidence, holding that the point, if taken to the federal courts at all, should have been carried directly to the United States supreme court from the state supreme court.

He also declined to consider the affidavit of a photographer that he had been asked by the police to retouch photographs of Jennings' finger prints and criticised the man who made the affidavit for delaying to make his statement until the trials and appeals were over.

May Abolish Hanging.

The five hangings caused many to discuss the abolition of capital punishment in Illinois. Sheriff Zimmer said:

"I am not so sure I believe in the wisdom of capital punishment. It is the law and we are here to carry out the law. But it seems to me that imprisonment for life, without hope of commutation or pardon, at hard labor, whose proceeds could be given to the widow or orphans or other dependents of the victim would be a greater deterrent to crime.

"I believe today's work will have a strongly deterrent effect on crime for some time to come," continued the sheriff. "It has been a long time since the extreme penalty has been inflicted. But I believe a better law for the punishment of murder could be made."

Mayor Harrison also declared:

"Some times I think it would be better to do away with capital punishment and substitute life imprisonment. But the law should make it impossible to escape the prison penalty except on evidence."

Crowds Fight to See Bodies.

The police experienced difficulty tonight in handling a crowd of several thousand persons who struggled to see the bodies of four of the executed men at an undertaking establishment. A special detail of officers used their clubs to beat back excited throngs that threatened to wreck the front of the building. Several women fainted.

"Concerning the letters quoted in the indictment," Mr. Ryan said today, "it is unfair for the government to draw conclusions that those letters were written to promote crime. If any person reads all of them he will see that they refer only to legitimate means of inducing contractors to unionize their works."

Detroit Police Arrest Hockin.

DETROIT, Feb. 16.—A flurry of excitement was caused tonight when Herbert S. Hockin, second vice president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, who came here from Indianapolis in an effort to secure a reduction from $5,000 to $3,000 in the bonds asked for the release of two alleged dynamiters now in jail here, was escorted to police headquarters by city detectives.

At the police station Hockin was informed by detectives that he had been wanted here for some time and that he would be held to answer an old charge supposed to be pending against him.

Hockin soon was released, however, and later it was explained by the police that the iron workers official, who formerly lived in Detroit, was regarded as "a dangerous character," and that local detectives had been instructed to bring him to police headquarters whenever he was found in the city.

Calls Charge Absurd.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 16.—Characterizing as absurd the charge of the government that he conspired to transport dynamite from one state to another in violation of the federal law, Moulton H. Davis, a prosperous lumber dealer of Westchester, Pa., for whom the United States authorities had been searching, surrendered today. Davis is held in high esteem in Westchester.

Davis, the government authorities say, left the iron workers organization in 1906 and went to the lumber region of North Carolina, where he entered business with his father-in-law. In the fall of 1909 he went to Westchester and purchased an old lumber business.

VALLEJO, Cal., Feb. 16.—Just 20 minutes from the time the cruiser South Dakota, with the Pacific fleet at 22 in Hawaii, flashed a wireless message to the navy department at Washington [illegible] reply was received. The message, which consisted of seven lines, was relayed at the Mare Island navy yard and at Key West. The answer was "OK."

This is believed to be a time record in wireless communication.

ATTORNEY GENERAL HAS EYE ON STANDARD OIL

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 16.—Attorney General Wickersham, who arrived here today, has informed himself of the fight the Standard Oil people are making to get control of the Waters-Pierce Oil company and to perpetuate the oil monopoly.

The attorney general was asked if he expected his department to take any action relative to the operations.

"It looks," he replied, "as if the Waters-Pierce people had been able to take pretty good care of themselves so far."

That a combination of men, such as the Pierce interests alleged has been formed by the Standard Oil interests, might be guilty of a conspiracy in restraint of trade, he said, already was settled by the courts.

INTRODUCE 725 TELEGRAMS AT TRIAL OF PACKING MEN

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Seven hundred and twenty-five telegrams sent by T. M. Lee, manager of Armour & Co.'s beef department, and his assistants, in July and August, 1910, to eastern representatives, urging them to obtain higher prices for dressed meat, were introduced in evidence by the government in the packers' trial today.

The government contends that the telegrams show that the memorandum cost was used by Armour & Co. as a basis for the selling price and that the eastern representatives continually urged to obtain this figure for their product.

Failure to obtain the memorandum cost resulted in the branch house managers being criticised severely. In many instances the Chicago office threatened to reduce shipments unless better prices were obtained. The government declares that by this system the prices were controlled.

CHAMPION MARRYING MAN OFF ON NEW HONEYMOON

Dr. Milton Abraham, Who Has Many Aliases, Get Funds for Trip From Mother-in-law

OAKLAND, Cal., Feb. 16.—It was learned today by the police that Dr. Milton Abrahams, alias Ernest Moore Charwick, alias Sir Harry Westwood Cooper, who bigamously married his sixth wife last Friday morning, had left with his bride within an hour after the wedding ceremony, for Victoria, B. C. Funds for the trip, which combined the pleasures of a honeymoon with the necessity of evading the police who sought his arrest for having broken his parole from state's prison, had been obtained from his bride's mother, Mrs. Herman Milbrath, who believed he needed money to tide him over until he could obtain claim on an immense estate in the east.

Abrahams' criminal record began in New South Wales, in 1893, when he was sentenced to 18 months for obtaining money under false pretenses. Since then he has been imprisoned twice in San Quentin penitentiary for forgery, and was paroled last October, after serving three years of his last sentence.

His marital record began in 1895, in Sydney, Australia. A year later he was married again, and in 1897, his third marriage was celebrated at Toronto, Canada. In 1901 he was married at Crockett, Cal., the marriage being annulled later. In 1903 he was married in the San Francisco county jail to his fifth wife, who he deserted.

Under the name of Dr. Milton Abrahams, he attempted to obtain $15,000 on a forged draft here recently, having arranged with the proprietor of a local hospital to purchase an interest. The bank suspected the draft and refused to cash it.

Abrahams is said to have boasted, after his marriage in the San Francisco jail, "Give me a clean collar and a shave and I'll marry any woman in the world."

It is said today that he had spent an hour on the morning of his marriage to Miss Milbrath urging his suit with Miss Daisy Climm, superintendent of nurses in the hospital in which he was to have purchased an interest. Miss Climm refused him.

DRAMATIC SCENE AT TRIAL IN A GREELEY, COLO., COURT

Prosecutor Tosses $500 In Lap of Witness, Asking if It Was Used For Bribery.

GREELEY, Colo., Feb. 16.—Five hundred dollars in bills were tossed into the lap of E. C. Stevens of Chicago today, as he was on the witness stand in a criminal trial, and the attorney asked him if he had not given the money to his former partner, William Tilton, to buy Tilton's silence in the pending case.

Stevens was the main witness for the defense in the trial of Ex-County Commissioner E. J. Estes, who is charged with forgery and false pretenses. The case turns on the alleged delivery of lumber to Weld county, Stevens formerly having owned a sawmill at Lyons, Colo. Stevens testified to the fact of delivery. He denied that his partner knew of any of his dealings with the county and denied having paid the $500 to Tilton.

Following the dramatic court room scene it was brought out that Stevens had been arrested on a bribery charge as he was about to board a train for Denver.

Burning Film in Cripple Creek Theater Causes a Slight Panic; Little Loss

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 16.—The burning of a film in the moving picture machine at the Majestic about 10 o'clock tonight resulted in a slight panic among the audience, a number of women fainting. Prompt work on the part of the police and firemen, however, prevented the spread of flames, and the excited audience was soon quieted.

The accident occurred during the last performance, the house being crowded. The platform on which the moving picture machine was located was wrecked. The extent of the damage to the building has not been estimated, but probably will be small.

FATALLY BURNED WHILE FITTING WEDDING DRESS

New Mexico Woman's Gown Ignited by Toy Stove With Which Small Brother Was Playing.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 16.—While trying on her wedding gown, last evening, Miss Candelaria Gabaldon of Atrisco, near here, received burns from the effects of which she died at 8 o'clock this morning. The young woman was standing before a mirror when the dress came in contact with a toy stove, with which her little brother was playing on the floor. She was instantly enveloped in flames, and ran from the house, being literally cooked alive by the time friends reached her. She was to have been married this morning.

Youth Carries Girl, Who Drank Poison, Through Streets to Physician

DENVER, Feb. 16.—Dying from the effects of poison taken with suicidal intent, Miss Pearl Deary, aged 20, was borne through a downtown street tonight in the arms of her sweetheart, Eugene Tully, who was rushing to a physician in an office building in an effort to save her life. The youth was followed by a large crowd as the incident occurred in the home-going rush hour. The girl was taken to the county hospital where she died a few minutes later.

Miss Deary took the poison on the street, after meeting the young man at a nearby drug store, when he told her that in accord with the advice of a priest he must sever his relations with her. The girl is the daughter of wealthy parents who live in Aspen, Colo.

PLUMBERS TESTIFY THAT COMPETITION WAS ENDED

Jobbers From Various Parts of Country On Witness Stand In So-called Bath Tub Trust Case.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 16.—Ten jobbers from various sections of the United States were placed on the witness stand today by the government, in the trial of the so-called bath tub trust, charged with conspiracy in restraint of trade. The substance of their testimony was, that they were given an opportunity to sign the alleged trade agreements; that they refused to do so; that the manufacturers were in active competition prior to June, 1910, when it was claimed the price fixing agreement was signed, but after that the competition ceased.

Some of the same witnesses declared that as a result of the alleged agreement, prices were advanced and that the advance told most heavily against the plumber.

YUAN CUTS OFF QUEUE

New President of Chinese Republic Modernizes Hair Dress Following Election to Office.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—"Yuan Shi Kai, the new president of the Chinese republic, today cut off his queue," says the correspondent of The Daily Mail at Pekin, telegraphing Friday. "He still, however, is unwilling to hurt the feelings of the Manchus, and deprecates the public rejoicing over his election to the presidency of the republic.

"The acting viceroy of the province of Chi Li has loaned Yuan $3,125,000 for his present needs."

PEKIN, Feb. 16.—In an interview with the Associated Press today, Yuan Shi Kai said:

"Owing to the lack of experience the republican government will make many errors. Having been elected president of the republic I will undertake the task."

Yuan Shi Kai said he had a great admiration for Dr. Sun Yat Sen, who had shown himself a true patriot.

Yuan is determined not to go to Nanking and is endeavoring to persuade the Nanking assembly that his presence there is not necessary, at the same time pointing out the dangerous possibility of the monarchical party endeavoring to reestablish itself in Pekin. MUST FACE COURAGEOUSLY PROBLEM OF REGULATION

Wickersham Tells How to Establish Proper Equation Between Business and Law.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 16.—To establish the proper equation between "business and the law," Attorney General Wickersham, in an address before the Commercial club here tonight, declared that it now remained for the federal government to face courageously its problem by regulating corporation interests through the enactment of "some adequate law of association."

"Under such a statute," he said, "there may be retained the great advantages of cooperative effort conduct of business, at the same time protecting the people from the consequences of unrestrained association.

"Nothing but continued confusion can result from leaving the creation and regulation of these associations to the varying caprices of 48 or 50 states. Until the national government courageously faces the question and accepts the responsibility which the assertion of power involves, the proper equation between business and the law cannot be adequately settled.

"The essential principle under which alone can the people permit the existence of artificial bodies with large capital, is the recognition of the power of the government as greater than that of any corporation or group of men, and the constant exercise of that power to preserve the rights of the humblest citizen as well as the richest.

"Probably negative, restraining legislation has gone as far as is necessary. The great principle that the highway of commerce shall be open to all on equal terms, like conditions and similar circumstances, and that men may not band themselves together by unfair methods to destroy competition, is now fully recognized because of the law, and adequate means are provided to prevent violations of that law."

HENWOOD SEVERELY BEATEN

DENVER, Feb. 16.—Harold Frank Henwood, former globe trotter and slayer of "Tony" von Phul and George Copeland, in a local hotel [illegible], is no more a special privileged prisoner in the county jail here. However, he is confined to his couch with his face and head badly [illegible] as a result of a fight today with Isaac M. Goldman, a guard and said to be a former prize fighter. Sheriff A. ADOPTS NAVAL BUDGET

French Senate Ratifies Program to Increase Number of Larger Types of Battleships.

PARIS, Feb. 16.—The senate voted the naval budget after Minister of Marine Delcasse had outlined the various important reforms in the navy which it was planned to accomplish.

It would be his aim, M. Delcasse declared, to add to the number of larger types of ships and increase the efficiency of the crew.

He said he had given special attention of the question of ammunition, and that 600 tons of doubtful powder already had been taken to sea and sunk, and that only absolutely reliable brands of explosives were being kept.

M. Delcasse added that he believed the French fleet constituted a formidable force calculated to make a possible opponent hesitate. The program calls for the expenditure of $279,000,000. The chamber of deputies adopted the budget last Tuesday.

There will be no special session of the senate to authorize the president to send troops into Chihuahua through American territory. The permanent committee of congress voted the measure down and adopted a resolution saying:

"The situation demands no such action."

The same answer was given to a group of deputies who had petitioned the committee to call a special session of both houses, "to treat of the dangers menacing the country."

Plan to Advertise State With Photos of Undraped Women Puts Man in Jail

DENVER, Feb. 16.—That a picture of a nude woman on a business card, or of a woman draped in cheese cloth would attract the eyes of the world to Colorado was the argument of J. H. Mackley of 1738 California street, who devised a scheme to get the picture. Mackley was arrested last night by Humane Officer Ransom and Patrolman Butterbaught and held on a charge of investigation. H. H. Stiver, a photographer, Mrs. Matilda Mackley and Mrs. Alice McCurdy were also arrested and are being held as witnesses.

Mrs. Mackley, sister-in-law of J. H. Mackley, told Chief Armstrong that Mackley photographed girls from 13 years of age to women of 40. She said the purpose of the pictures was, to make a book of the photographs and sell them. She said they also intended to exhibit the pictures at the San Francisco exhibition to prove that the Denver women were the best formed women in the world.

Mackley inserted advertisements in the Denver newspapers for an office girl. When the girl applied for the position, Mackley would tell her that he would give her a good position as his representative in any state in the Union if she would submit to having her picture taken nude. If the girl consented, Mackley would measure her, and if the measurements were up to what he called average, he would take the photograph.

Mackley, it is said, has been in the business for several months. According to his sister-in-law he has photographed hundreds of women of all ages. He would change the advertisement every Sunday, it is alleged, so the girls would not become suspicious. One Sunday he would advertise for a model, the next for an office girl.

MADAME COREA'S BENEFIT

By ALBERT C. PEARSON.

The benefit concert given in the Antlers parlors last night for Madame Corea was a distinct success. The applause was hearty and there were many encores.

Madame Corea is a trained artist. She has a fine stage presence and a big voice capable of dramatic intensity and of a lovely quality, especially in the middle register. She was at her best in the great aria from Der Freischutz. Her conception of this difficult composition was noble, both in the tender prayer and in the florid passages. Of her songs, "La Vie" and Kucken's "Heaven Hath Shed a Tear," the last with a clarinet obligato, exquisitely played by Mr. St. Clair, were most effective.

Mr. and Mrs. St. Clair added much to the pleasure of the evening by their duets for clarinet and violin. They are artists, both, and think their music as one person.

Mr. Lyulph Stanley has a very sweet tenor, true and clear. He showed greater power in his climaxes than he has exhibited in his former appearances. As he becomes more accustomed to our altitude, I have an idea that his voice will take on a more robust quality.

Miss Trott's student orchestra must be a joy to her. They are an engaging bunch of youngsters, with plenty of enthusiasm, and follow their leader surprisingly well.

As to Victor Polant. If this talented boy will live laborious days, and, if necessary, sweat blood, he—who knows? His future is on the lap of the gods.

Mr. Pirle accompanied with discretion and sympathy.

and instructed him to proceed to his home. The order closed with the words, "The travel directed is necessary in the military service."

As a retired officer of his rank, General Ainsworth will draw an annual salary of $6,000. He will lose his allowance of approximately $2,000, which he had on active duty.

The voluntary application for retirement by General Ainsworth quashes any charges against him.

The unexpected turn of events, which came late in the afternoon, put an end to the department's preparations for the court-martial. Earlier in the day telegraphic inquiries had been made of a half dozen retired officers of his rank if they were prepared to serve on the court, while instructions had been sent to a line officer outside of Washington to report at once, presumably to officiate as judge advocate of the court. Judge Advocate General Crowder also had been busy putting in legal form the charges against the adjutant general.

Nullifies House Plans.

There was much surprise and some consternation among General Ainsworth's friends when word of his voluntary retirement reached the house. Unofficially, plans had been made to inquire into the methods of the war department through the medium of a congressional inquiry, and these were nullified.

Many expressed disappointment at the officer's action.

General Ainsworth tonight would discuss neither his action nor his plans.

With the avowed intention of putting an end to friction that for years has existed between the officers of the line and those of the staff, the house today adopted an amendment to the army appropriation bill, consolidating the divisions of the chief of staff, the adjutant general and the inspector general under one head, that of the bureau of the general staff. The chief of staff is to be the directing head of the proposed bureau with the other two officers as staff associates.

As another part of army reorganization, the house abolished five of the 15 regiments of cavalry, and on roll call, by a vote of 146 to 134, indorsed its action of yesterday in advancing the term of enlistment in the army from three years to five years. The army bill finally was passed by the house, after a fight lasting several days.

HARD ORDEAL FOR MOTHER

Mrs. Estelle Kimmel, Asked by Attorney If It Was "Mother Love or Money Love" That Swayed Her.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 16.—"Mother love or money love?" That [illegible] was put by counsel for the defense to Mrs. Estelle Kimmel [illegible] adjourned today. [illegible] cross-examination her statement that she would rather have her son back than all the millions of the insurance company which is being sued to recover [illegible] on the life of George A. Kimmel. Kimmel disappeared from Arkansas City, Kan., in 1898.

"You say you would like to have your son back," said the lawyer. "Do you mean that you would like to have back your son as his former manly [illegible] or the convict with the record stained with crime and his body and mind marred by disease?"

"I want my son back as he may be," replied the mother earnestly, "with all the infirmity or deformity that may accrue with years, but I don't want a convict who does not resemble my son in a single feature."

"Was it mother love or money love," said the lawyer, sternly, "that kept you from going to this man for three years?"

"I did not believe him my son," she replied.

Counsel for the defense trapped Mrs. Kimmel into the statement that she did not recognize a picture of her son George A. Kimmel.

He showed her a newspaper picture, a reproduction of a photograph, and asked her if she recognized it as her son's picture. She put on her spectacles, looked at the picture and said:

"I should say most emphatically not."

The attorney then pointed out that the picture was taken from the photograph exhibits, and was a halftone copy of the authenticated photograph of Kimmel.

"WOULD EXPEL MOTHER"

majority members of a Gazette reporter last night, "tell me why the others intended to take a policeman and a lawyer to the meeting Thursday night. Huh?"

"You can search me, madam," replied the reporter, as he backed off into a corner. "I haven't the remotest idea in the world, and far be it that I should hazard a guess. The whole works is too deep for me. Why should they want a policeman or a lawyer at such a peaceful meeting?"

"That's just it," was the answer. "You don't know, but we do. That's why we had a policeman there ourselves."

"And it is true that these five who were expelled can never get back into the Pikes Peak chapter of the American Woman's league?" was asked. "Can't they ever belong again?"

"Never Again."

"Never again," was the reply; "that is, so long as we are in control of the situation. They are not expelled from the league, understand, but just from the local chapter. It will do them no good to write to the headquarters of the league in St. Louis, for our action was justified. They were simply expelled, and that is the end of the whole affair. There is nothing more to say, nothing more to do. The incident is closed."

"My daughter is a willful, ungrateful girl, who is directing her energies to support a lot of mischief makers," declared Mrs. H. M. Shepard, whose daughter, Miss McMillan, voted with the others to expel her from the club.

"She has been given every advantage, and her talents are not appreciated by the members of the league," Mrs. Shepard continued. "This whole trouble in the chapter is caused by a lot of childish old women, and a lot of young girls who feel too much responsibility.

"The meetings have been attended recently by about a dozen members, and they only sit around and gossip and refuse to transact any business. The trouble in the league started at the meeting held December 14, and the main source of the contention was over a correction in the minutes which the president refused to make in a resolution calling for the resignation of Mrs. Price as chairman of the lot committee."

"Mrs. Price's mother offered her $100 a month to resign from the club and to stay at home and mind her own business," is a statement which Mrs. Shepard declared last night had been made to her.

It was declared, yesterday, that the resolution calling for the expulsion of Mrs. Cora Brauer, Mrs. I. M. Bates, Mrs. Mettie Johnson, Mrs. F. S. MacJohnstone and Mrs. H. M. Shepard, was subsequently signed by 40 members who were present at the meeting Thursday night, and that the vote for expulsion was unanimous. Mrs. Brauer and Mrs. Shepard, it was said, were not at the meeting.

No Social for Them.

A social session followed the business meeting, and, it was brought out, the dismissed members did not remain for the social gathering. They put on their wraps and left the house almost immediately.

Miss McMillan, in addition to being treasurer of the Pikes Peak chapter, also is superintendent of the league for this state. It is understood that she will go to St. Louis soon, the league's headquarters, where she will assume the duties of superintendent.

It also developed yesterday that the song, "Turn your faces to the sunlight while the shadows fall behind," was inspired by the New Years greeting from E. G. Lewis, founder of the American Woman's league, which was, "Turn your faces to the sunlight." Although founder of the league, Lewis is not an officer. Men may belong, but they do not have the right to vote on issues. A number of men were at the meeting Thursday night, at Mrs. Ehlredge's home, but they did not vote on the resolution of expulsion.

"It would not have made any difference," said a member of the chapter last night. "The men were with us; every one of them was on our side, so the fact that they could not vote made no difference in the final result."

the petition to be filed until it had been read. The prosecutors insisted that the petition, which was signed by Rev. Repinski, was not in accord with the facts.

Judge Landis did not rule on the case of the evidence, holding that the point, if taken to the federal courts at all, should have been carried directly to the United States Supreme court from the state supreme court.

He also declined to consider the affidavit of a photographer that he had been asked by the police to retouch photographs of Jennings' finger prints and criticised the man who made the affidavit for delaying to make his statement until the trials and appeals were over.

May Abolish Hanging.

The five hangings caused many to discuss the abolition of capital punishment in Illinois. Sheriff Zimmer said:

"I am not so sure I believe in the wisdom of capital punishment. It is the law and we are here to carry out the law. But it seems to me that imprisonment for life, without hope of commutation or pardon, at hard labor, whose proceeds could be given to the widow or orphans or other dependents of the victim, would be a greater deterrent to crime.

"I believe today's work will have a strongly deterrent effect on crime for some time to come," continued the sheriff. "It has been a long time since the extreme penalty has been inflicted. But I believe a better law for the punishment of murder could be made."

Mayor Harrison also declared:

"Some times I think it would be better to do away with capital punishment and substitute life imprisonment. But the law should make it impossible to escape the prison penalty except on evidence."

Crowds Fight to See Bodies.

The police experienced difficulty tonight in handling a crowd of several thousand persons who struggled to see the bodies of four of the executed men at an undertaking establishment. A special detail of officers used their clubs to beat back excited throngs that threatened to wreck the front of the building. Several women fainted.

many witnesses from the cities in which the explosions occurred and of members of crews of trains upon which explosives were carried, will be found to dovetail exactly with the letters alleged to show the unconsummated plots," said Mr. Miller. "Because McManigal was the most active agent of the dynamiters, though Hockin, as the indictment charges, was a close second, the government will rely largely upon the former's testimony for corroborative evidence at the trial."

"Concerning the letters quoted in the indictment," Mr. Ryan said today, "it is unfair for the government to draw conclusions that those letters were written to promote crime. If any person reads all of them he will see that they refer only to legitimate means of inducing contractors to unionize their works."

Detroit Police Arrest Hockin.

DETROIT, Feb. 16.—A flurry of excitement was caused tonight when Herbert S. Hockin, second vice president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, who came here from Indianapolis in an effort to secure a reduction from $5,000 to $3,000 in the bonds asked for the release of two alleged dynamiters now in jail here, was escorted to police headquarters by city detectives.

At the police station Hockin was informed by detectives that he had been wanted here for some time and that he would be held to answer an old charge supposed to be pending against him.

Hockin soon was released, however, and later it was explained by the police that the iron workers official, who formerly lived in Detroit, was regarded as "a dangerous character," and that local detectives had been instructed to bring him to police headquarters whenever he was found in the city.

Calls Charge Absurd.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 16.—Characterizing as absurd the charge of the government that he conspired to transport dynamite from one state to another in violation of the federal law, Moulton H. Davis, a prosperous lumber dealer of Westchester, Pa., for whom the United States authorities had been searching, surrendered today. Davis is held in high esteem in Westchester.

Davis, the government authorities say, left the iron workers organization in 1906 and went to the lumber region of North Carolina, where he entered business with his father-in-law. In the fall of 1909, he went to Westchester and purchased an old lumber business.

Munsey Still in Jail.

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 16.—James E. Munsey, the iron workers agent arrested here yesterday on the federal indictment at Indianapolis, is still in jail. He has been unable to furnish the $5,000 bail required by the United States commissioner.

KILLS SELF RATHER THAN FACE CRIMINAL CHARGES

OGDEN, Utah, Feb. 16.—With the thoughts of facing a charge of murder, the desertion of a wife and baby in Berlin and probable deportation from the United States in his mind, Arthur Nuendorff, a young German, hanged himself in the county jail this afternoon. Nuendorff used a short piece of rope to complete his task. [illegible]

According to the police he became infatuated with Mrs. Maria Groff, who was found strangled to death at her home three weeks ago. The police were investigating Nuendorff's story of the crime when he killed himself.

SIDE-STEPPING, AS USUAL

THE Telegraph ducks in this fashion:

"No committee, either state or county, is justified in invoking a presidential primary until they (sic) are reasonably certain that Mr. Roosevelt is a candidate and that he would accept the nomination if tendered. And no one is authorized to speak for him except Roosevelt himself, and he has as yet made no sign."

Therefore, we are to assume that until Mr. Roosevelt "makes signs" nobody save Taft can be considered a candidate. It makes no difference that La Follette has frankly avowed his candidacy in a signed statement and in a dozen speeches. It avails nothing that Cummins has published broadcast, over his signature, a statement that he is in the race. These declarations were no less positive, though not as blatant, as the one wherein a Certain Important Person declared that "nothing but death" could prevent his being a candidate "to the finish."

But although there is not the slightest sign of enthusiasm anywhere in the country for anybody except Roosevelt, and although it is thoroughly understood that Roosevelt will accept the nomination if it comes to him in response to a genuine public demand, the Telegraph declines to accept the inevitable. It knows that presidential primaries in Colorado mean a Colorado delegation for Roosevelt in the National Convention at Chicago next June. Hoping against hope, it seeks to put off the hour of submission.

To us the course of reasoning which leads to the conclusion that there is no justification for presidential primaries unless Roosevelt avows his candidacy, is unfathomable. We prefer to cling to the belief that the people have a right to express their choice in this matter at the polls, Roosevelt or no Roosevelt. This paper has frankly expressed its preference for the Colonel, but there are three other candidates who have as frankly avowed that they are bidders for the favor of the Chicago convention. There is only one way to find out which of these is the real choice of the people—and that is by holding presidential primaries. So let's have them. The Roosevelt men are willing to take the chances. If the Taft crowd, as represented by the Telegraph, are not so confident, the fact is merely an evidence of their want of faith in their own cause.

EDISON AS A FREAK

A WEEK ago Thomas A. Edison observed his sixty-fifth birthday by telling a reporter how easy it is to trip through life and attain a ripe old age on a schedule of eighteen hours of work, four hours to sleep, and two hours of wining and dining. He is ready to enter a Marathon with any man of his age, and bet that he can climb six flights of stairs as fast as any of them. Says Mr. Edison:

> "I don't feel any older than 25. I was never in better health or spirits. My 65 years sit but lightly on me, and I'll guarantee to run up six flights of stairs with any man of my age and be either ahead at the top or pretty close behind.
> "You people who got up late this morning—at 7 o'clock, perhaps—think it was cold. What do you think about the weather, when I got up at 4:30? And I did not go to bed until midnight.
> "That is my system—to bed at midnight and up at 4:30. It gives me plenty of sleep and a lot more time for my work."

There is a good deal of absurdity in the fashion in which the public accepts, as inspired truth, the views of any bigbug on any subject, wholly without respect to his fitness to speak on that subject. Merely because Mr. Morgan is the most adroit, and possibly the most successful, financier on earth, we accept his opinions on art as final. Recently a writer who pretends to speak with authority has said that Morgan has spent no less than $100,000,000 in accumulating old masters, rare manuscripts, etc. Perhaps he has, but it does not follow that he has bought intelligently. Similarly, Mr. Rockefeller writes an autobiography in which he expounds his views of education—and lo, they are heralded far and wide as authoritative. But the fact that a man who has the acumen to make hundreds of millions in business, and thereby be enabled to give a small part of it to educational causes, voices his opinions, does not necessarily mean that his opinions are final.

EDISON'S VIEWS ON RELIGION.

Two or three months ago Mr. Edison published his views on religion. He could regard the human being merely as a material and purely physical being. To him a man is an aggregation of cells and nothing more, differing from a tree or a blade of grass only in his physical structure. Death ended everything, both for the man and the blade of grass.

The only conclusion is that Mr. Edison may be a great inventor and a great investigator in physical science without being an authority on psychology or philosophy. In the field of invention he unquestionably is the greatest wizard of this or any other time. He has contributed enormously to the sum of human knowledge concerning electricity, and has given the world a score of amazing inventions including such epoch-marking devices as the electric light and the phonograph. His opinion on any question relating to these subjects probably is the last word, but it does not follow that his opinions on religion and philosophy are authoritative.

Neither is it reasonable to suppose that because he can get along on four and a half hours of sleep a day, the average man can safely attempt the feat. Once in a long time a freak bobs up, like Napoleon or Edison, who can do this, but most of us thrive best when we adhere to the rule laid down by Alexander the Great for the division of the day—eight hours each for sleep, work and recreation.

OPEN PARLIAMENT

THE "DOWN-TRODDEN" WOMAN.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

"Declares woman's leadership to be the sin of the church." This appeared in big letters in The Gazette on the front page as the expression of the men who are inaugurating a man's movement in the church, and the next paragraph is "Woman is a failure in the teaching of boys between 14 and 20 years old. They do not need teachers but leaders, men who understand them better, are able to let the boys rise by their own efforts. You cannot bribe a boy to be religious."

What woman can read this without wanting to resent the slur and insult? Only the weakness in the second paragraph makes one feel that it comes from a source, that the intelligent and unbiased will feel, that it is not worth considering; but there are too many who are not of this type, and are influenced by just such statements to sneer at and belittle the woman. The small fry of the masculine gender has been using these same tactics in educational lines also. Only a few years ago the same was said about women teachers, and in Chicago, they made an effort to oust the women teachers, and supply their places with men teachers for all boys from 14 to 20, using the same argument that boys of that age should be under the guidance of male men.

Bosh! Who is the better disciplinarian and moral teacher? I know women who taught schools that men could not control and governed successfully bullies who run male teachers off with a threatened ride on a rail. "They do not need teachers but leaders." Well, perhaps a woman could lead a horse to water as well as a man, and one would be as successful as the other in making "him drink," if he didn't want to. If these men would study eugenics and practice it, these boys in a few generations, might be capable of rising by "their own efforts."

When have women been leaders in the church? You mean they have been the chief supporters of the church, by their presence and by their efforts to raise funds for the material part—not with John's money, as some one has stated it, to get up bazars and suppers, and then make him buy the things—but her own as much as his, and doubly hers because of her labor. Any self-respecting woman must resent that view of it, notwithstanding the laws of Colorado make it so legally. I answer, they never have been. They have had no voice in the church government at all. A few years ago some wide-awake women concluded they should have some say, and these women delegates were sent to the general conference of one of the leading churches and after much discussion they were turned away. I wonder they did not give these mighty men an object lesson and walk out all over the land.

Run it without us, brothers, and see what you will make of it. We know there are big men, who are not afraid of woman's competition for position and honor who will recognize merit irrespective of sex. "You cannot bribe a boy to be religious." Has this been the woman's method? Your zeal has clouded your judgment, gentlemen. After all the fine mothers that biography and history records, and the testimony of many fine sons, who would resent this aspersion, while Cornelia, the mother of the two Gracchi was not the only woman who gave to her sons the strength by which they had the power to rise to the heights of freedom and patriotism and exalted character, but it was her daily teaching that they give themselves a sacrifice for the good of their fellows. If these men, who have started out in a good cause, instead of belittling the woman, had said, we recognize that we have not done our duty spiritually, and now we will take hold and do our duty, and by working together, we will extend the kingdom of Christ, and hasten the day when the multitudes will recognize the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man—instead of falling back on that old-time worn excuse that the first male used to excuse his weakness and sin, threw the blame on his poor little few-day-old wife, all would have recognized their Christian spirit and the work would have been pushed forward with a mighty impetus.

If the women, so belittled, have no more of the Christian spirit in them than these men have, judging from their remarks, they will say, gentlemen, we will give you a free field; see what you can do to redeem the world that we have made such a mess of.

LYDIA J. TERRY.

Colorado Springs, Feb. 16.

STILL DISSATISFIED.

To the Editor of The Gazette.

Being in close relation with the labor movement I wish to inform your correspondent, Professor James Hutchinson Kerr, that his advice to the "industrial workers" to rally to the support of Mr. Roosevelt will undoubtedly be taken heed of at the next national election. I also wish to remind Mr. Kerr that the intelligent American working class has not quite forgotten the man who, while president of the United States, and prior to that, while governor of New York, helped certain interests transact the biggest business schemes where the public was mulcted of $82,000,000 in one deal and the Tennessee Coal and Iron company was taken for practically nothing in the second deal. I must confess, however, that both financial schemes have nothing to do with the bulk of American voters, i. e., the working class, because they had nothing to lose to begin with.

What the workers do remember is the federal troops sent by President Roosevelt into Goldfield, Nev., in order to break a strike of the miners that were fighting for better living conditions, nor have we forgotten the ex-president's bitter denunciation against a class of men and women whom he called "undesirable citizens" and "free lovers." Such expressions do not become a man that's supposed to be cultured and is held up as an example of manhood throughout this land.

Now, the Roosevelt policies are not original by any means, witness Hearst accusing Bryan for stealing his platform, Bryan charging Roosevelt of swiping his valuable ideas, and in his turn Roosevelt being dead sore at President Taft for not carrying out "my policies," which are as changeable as the March days. Those policies are conservative in Massachusetts, progressive in Kansas, for the recall of judges and woman suffrage in California, against both in Arizona, denouncing grafters in one place and dining with "Boss" Cox in another place. He has been wielding a big stick and busting the trusts for nearly eight years, yet the trusts are still here, more powerful than ever while the big stick was broken into fragments by the very "busted" trusts.

The purchasing power of the wages of the workers has diminished considerably under his administration and the much advertised "full dinner pail" was in many, many cases filled with hot air, the army of unemployed has increased by leaps and bounds, so have the number of criminals, fallen women and child delinquents—which all put together are a loud protest not against Mr. Roosevelt personally, but against the system the man Roosevelt is so ably defending and of which system the ex-president is a conspicuous member. The following from the lips of Mr. Hearst perfectly describe the man from Oyster Bay:

> The man is a very harlequin of politics, capering forward and backward and sidewise over every conflicting quarter of the political stage, masked as to his real opinion and intention, attired in a tinsel patchwork of opposing principles, carrying not a big stick, but a slapstick, with which to make much noise and do no service, appearing unexpectedly through every trap door of opportunism and disappearing acrobatically through every open window of time-serving expediency.
> With Roosevelt as Harlequin and Root as Columbine, with Rockefeller as Clown and Morgan as Pantaloon, the whole progressive movement would become a roaring Christmas pantomime, culminating in a spectacular transformation scene, where prosperity would again dissolve into panic and where Morgan and Rockefeller, revealed enthroned in Wall street, would once more save the country in order to divide it satisfactorily between themselves.

Such is the man many of the "industrial workers of the world" see in Mr. Roosevelt.

Sunflower Philosophy

BY WALT MASON

THE HYDRANT

Tom Moore and many other bards have sung the sparkling wine; when one is loaded to the guards that drink seems passing fine; and so they stood in halls of light and sprung their toast and jest, until, to speed the songful night, the sun rose in the west. And then the singers sought their beds, nor touched the tuneful lyre; they wrapped wet muslin on their heads, and wished they might expire. Hard water doesn't sparkle much, but that's what I consume, and twang my lyre to beat the Dutch, and have no hours of gloom. I rise at dawn refreshed, and feel no tremors and no shakes, and I can spring a gladsome spiel or whip my weight in snakes. No bard can carol to the dawn or sing a helpful lay if with a wicker demijohn he whiles the night away. Anacreon and all that bunch may sing the sparkling wine; the hydrant juice (without free lunch) is all I want in mine.

THE DAILY CHIT-CHAT

-BY-
RUTH CAMERON

"About once in so often" my postman brings me a certain letter.

Not materially the same letter of course, but essentially the same.

That is it paints for me the same situation and makes the same eager plea that I suggest some remedy.

And the situation is that of the woman with a man friend who shows her in every way that he cares for her but never puts it into words.

Listen to a sentence or two from my most recent letter:

"He will show me in every way possible that he cares yet he will not say the words. 'A girl is supposed to know when a man cares and I feel sure that he does but it would do me more good to hear the plain words than anything."

I have absolutely no use for that kind of man.

Even when he has that favorite excuse of masculine dilly dalliers who waste a girl's time without giving her any guarantee for her future—that he is not ready to support a wife, and until he is, he feels that it is more chivalrous not to tell her that he loves her.

It seems to me that when a man loves a woman, is sure of it, sure he wants to marry her as soon as he is financially able to do so, he should share that knowledge with her.

He should tell her at the same time how long it will be before he can make a home for her. He should not, of course, insist on her binding herself to him, either formally or informally, but he should let her know that he cares.

If she cares for him she will probably know no greater joy than to wait. If she doesn't care or doesn't want to wait, there is surely nothing to prevent her saying so.

Where this much vaunted chivalry comes in, in forcing a girl if she cares to either wait in wretched uncertainty or waste herself on a man she doesn't care so much for, merely because she didn't dare risk a loveless future, I can't see.

And as for the man—and I mean—who has no such motive, who selfishly absorbs a girl's time and while flattering her into caring by making her think in every way that he cares, hangs back from putting it into words, because he doesn't want to be bound—well I've much less use for him than the other kind.

He needs a good old-fashioned father to stalk into the parlor and ask him his "intentions."

And if a girl isn't willing to have anything of this sort done—which ten to one she isn't—the best remedy I can suggest is to make things a little less easy for him, to stimulate a healthy doubt in his mind as to her affection and give some competitor a chance to enter the race.

There may be some better way of making a man hurry up and find out what he wants and ask for it, but up to the present time of writing I haven't been informed of it.

The Great Conflict

A Half Century Ago Today

FEBRUARY 17, 1862

There was a savage encounter in the woods on the banks of Sugar Creek, Arkansas, between a body of Confederates whose identity was not known, and the First Missouri cavalry, Fourth Missouri cavalry, and Major Bowen's battalion. The First cavalry, attempting to drive the Confederates from their shelter behind the trees on the top of a ridge, were driven back. Major Bowen opened with a howitzer, to which the Confederates replied briskly. No further attempt was made to dislodge them, the Union forces withdrawing to their camp.

General Huger of the Confederate army issued the following order from Norfolk, Virginia: "Such portions of the militia as are called into service in this department will report to the nearest Confederate officer, and will be employed in defending their property and homes now threatened by the invader.

"They will obstruct the water courses and roads by which the enemy may approach, and from the narrow banks of the river use their shotguns on the ravager. They will arrest all citizens who hold intercourse with the enemy. Let every man do his duty, and the destroyers will be driven from your country."

Two regiments of Tennessee Confederate volunteers marched into Fort Donelson and were captured. They did not know the place had been captured and occupied by the Union army.

The legislature of Ohio held a jubilee over the success of the national arms at Forts Henry and Donelson. Fiery speeches were made, advocating the hanging of the "rebels," and a war on Great Britain.

The Confederate provisional congress closed its last session at Richmond, Virginia.

DENVER P. O. HANDLED NO VULGAR VALENTINE CARDS

DENVER, Feb. 16.—For the first time in years no objectionable post cards were found in the St. Valentine's influx by the local postoffice authorities. In previous years hundreds of suggestive cards have been barred from the mails and sent to the dead letter office in Washington for destruction.

Reports from other cities indicate that the valentine postcards mailed there were vulgar, so that in Chicago, New York and San Francisco, bundles of the missives were not delivered.

Assistant Postmaster H. W. Hannum passed judgment on all cards at the Denver postoffice.

"About three years ago we had considerable trouble with that class of cards, but now, through the cooperation of the police, their sale has been practically stopped," he said. "This is the first Valentine's day I remember, that has passed without some objectionable cards being deposited for delivery. Denver's post card business is very heavy, because it is known as a 'tourist city,' with many strangers passing through who write home."

MEN PROVIDE AND COOK LEAP YEAR PARTY FOOD

MEEKER, Colo., Feb. 16.—A leap year party, with all of the frills that should accompany such a function, for which "mere man" was compelled not only to provide the baskets of "goodies" with which the appetites of the hungry were to be appeased in return for the honor of being escorted to the scene of the festivities by the intrepid young ladies, but was compelled to do all of the cooking and baking himself, was held at the Angora school house, 20 miles from Meeker, yesterday. And it is said that the "eats" were fairly palatable. As their share of the evening's entertainment, the young ladies paid all expenses, provided the conveyances and solicited the dances.

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit.

Mrs. J. N. Basham, 118 Corona St., Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "There are no words that can fully express my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills. I gladly confirm my former public endorsement of this remedy." (Statement given August 17, 1911.)

On December 13, 1906, Mrs. Basham said: "Six years ago I was suddenly seized with a dull, dragging down pain in my back and I had reason to believe that it was caused by my kidneys. I suffered for a long time from backache and my bladder was inflamed. I doctored but met with little or no success in getting relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills which were procured from the Butcher Drug Co. The good work they did convinced me of their merits."

FIRST AID TO INJURED HEARTS

How Hubby Treats Wife at Cafe

[Copyrighted, 1912, by Laura Jean Libbey.]

There are many classes of men in the world and there is no place where one can study human nature better than in the well appointed cafe! It is the one place where the good or bad in a man's nature is sure to reveal itself! The young man who goes there with his sweetheart whom he hopes to win is usually generous. There is no delicacy on the menu but what he is anxious to supply her, from canvasback duck at $7 a plate to hothouse peaches at $1 a bite. He is so much in love that he considers nothing is too good for his dearie. "What a jewel that girl is going to get," sighs a forlorn woman to her companion.

"Courting time and after mariage are two different stories," he answers laconically.

She does not forget those words and watches the couple with interest as time goes on. She knows that they are wedded at last when she sees the gold band on the happy girl's finger. It was a source of amusement to watch them after that. It was not long ere she noticed that the canvasback duck gave place to a steak; and peaches gave way to prunes.

He apparently scans the menu for the cheapest dish which he can find on it, and he is not backward in ordering one portion of everything. He gives her a dark look if she suggests that a certain vegetable is tasty and reminds her that string beans are '15 cent a portion.' Nor is he abashed, in his ordering for one, to divide when the waiter facetiously inquires if the piece of pie which he ordered is to be cut in two? The man who will not give his wife a satisfactory dinner when he invites her out to dinner is certainly not a liberal provider at home.

If he makes the appointment to meet her at the cafe at 6 he does not put in an appearance until long after the hour. It doesn't concern him in the least that she may have been at a table in the dining room all the time, a prey to the most intense humiliation and mortification as she encounters the annoyed glance of the manager in her direction and sees the throng of would-be diners in the doorway who are waiting for tables. While she is deciding whether she will leave the place or what she will do, hubby puts in an appearance.

Her heart is too heavy to enjoy the dinner, chosen from the viands which she never could relish. Her enjoyment of the cafe is a thing of the past. She looks longingly at the other women, whose husbands are delighted to give them enjoyment. No matter how great the outside world may judge some man to be, there are two people who cannot fail to judge him as he is—his wife and the waiter. It's a husband's duty to realize without her [illegible] pots and pans of [illegible]. And it is a glimpse of fairyland for her to see the brilliant lights, the gleam of silver and cut glass, and the throngs of happy, bejeweled women, every one of whom seems to show the hand of care. No matter how a couple may have to economize at home, a husband should see that his wife has a few of the little delicacies she craves when he takes her to a cafe to dine. Wives grow fonder of husbands who treat them well.

ANSWERS

SHALL SHE APOLOGIZE?

"Dear Miss Libbey: A lady here had her brothers come and visit her, but on account of school their stay was short. One of them called and spent the evening with me and she, his sister, got angry at me, when it wasn't at all my fault. She won't even speak to me. Do you think I ought to go and apologize to her or let her alone?

"FRET."

If you were not to blame don't apologize or explain. Ignore the whole affair.

BETTER LET HIM GO.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I have been keeping company with a young man for the last three years whose prospects are discouraging. He drinks steadily and does not save anything. About a month ago I was going out with another fellow whom I only met once before. The former came the same evening and we met him in front of the house just as I was leaving with the other fellow. Of course I hadn't told the first young man and he has not taken any step to make up. I know he is miserable and would like to, but he is very stubborn. Do you think he will come back to me, for I love him dearly? I wrote him a nice letter, but he did not answer. I am willing to take him back with all his faults, though I cannot go to him. I am 24 years and he is 26.

HAZEL."

Better not waste any effort or sympathy on the fellow, Hazel, unless you wish to ruin your life's happiness. Forget him. Be thankful to be rid of him.

LET HIM GO HOME.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I will thank you to let me share some of your good judgment in the following matter: I am a young lady of 25. Am at present engaged to a gentleman living in one of the suburbs. My gentleman friend calls on me one or two times each week and always spends the night rather than make the trip back home late that night. This necessitates one of the family giving up his bed to him. I am being subjected to more or less criticism on this account and would like your advice as to whether or not you think this the proper thing for him to do.

VIOLET."

No. He should go home, Violet, or stay at a nearby hotel.

AS BESS SEE IT.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I have been reading your department with much interest and was especially interested in 'Jerry's' letter. If he is to be judged by that letter, I should not hesitate to call him 'classy.' I have lived in the city all my life, but have often visited in the country, and might say some of the 'classiest' young men I ever met came from the country. And so that I don't altogether blame the country towns. In my opinion the 'Four Daisies' are all silly, frivolous girls who are not capable of seeing deeper than what they are pleased to term as 'classy' clothes. Almost nine times out of ten these same clothes are being paid for on the installment plan out of a salary that would make even 'The Four Daisies' sit up and take notice. So cheer up, 'Jerry,' and remember there are any number of good, sensible girls in the city who are waiting for just such young men as you to come along and take them to the country.

BESS."

[illegible] PIERCE'S [illegible] PRESCRIPTION [illegible]

Mrs. Auld Denies Any Trouble With Husband

Although press dispatches Thursday night from Springfield, Ill., said that the chief of police there had been asked by Mrs. C. H. Auld of this city for information concerning a school teacher, alleged to have corresponded with her husband, Mrs. Auld yesterday denied that any such letter had been written, at least by her.

Mrs. Auld was seen at her home, 214 North Wahsatch avenue, yesterday, and said that the report from Springfield was without foundation, and that there was no truth in the story that she had written for information concerning a school teacher.

"My husband is in Wichita now, on business," said Mrs. Auld, "and I received a letter from him this morning. So far as I know, there is no trouble between my husband and me, and there never has been."

The dispatch referred to alleged that Mrs. Auld had written to learn the identity of a school teacher who has visited here and in Manitou, and who, according to the report, was corresponding with Mr. Auld.

HIGHGRADING ABOLISHED

In a letter made public yesterday, Frank G. Peck, president of the Portland company, and E. M. De La Vergne, general manager of the Elkton company, a great deal of credit is given Allen L. Burris, president of the El Paso company, for the practical stamping out of highgrading in the Cripple Creek district.

Burris, it is pointed out in the letter, acted for the mine owners in gathering data and evidence, and the work he did in this connection was with their authority and approval. Prior to this year, the letter states, high-grade ore thieves stole about $300,000 annually from the mine owners, but efforts of various individual companies to put a stop to the thefts were unsuccessful. A committee of mine owners selected Burris to do the field work in the campaign against the highgraders, and the El Paso company, among others, it is pointed out, advanced money to help defray the expenses of the work. The evidence secured by Burris, it is declared, resulted in the federal court granting an injunction against high-grade ore buyers, which practically put an end to the practice.

Not to Use New Burns Theater for Meetings

Although it has been suggested that the Republican and Democratic state conventions, which will meet in this city March 27 and April 29, respectively, be held in the new Burns theater, it is extremely doubtful that this will be done. Even though the seats are in place and the theater is completed in time, Mr. Burns is not sure that he will lease the playhouse for such purposes, since it is probable that the house would not be left in good condition.

I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by my wife, Mary Bell Lofquist.

INJUSTICE NEW SUNDAY ORDINANCE POINTED OUT

The El Paso County Pharmaceutical association is the first to make a formal protest against the proposed Sunday closing ordinance, the protest being read before the city council yesterday morning.

The druggists say that the Sunday business at present barely pays expenses, and the ordinance would seriously cripple it since Colorado Springs is a tourist city, many visitors arrive Sunday, and they all desire to make small purchases on that day. If the druggists are not allowed to sell anything but necessities, the people will not understand it when they are refused the articles they call for. The elimination of kodak supplies from the list of articles that may be sold has also caused much comment, one druggist saying that Sunday is the one day upon which people go out with their kodaks.

A written request, sent by the Federated Trades council and supported by R. C. Wright and George Bainter, requested that home men be given the preference in the matter of work on improvements carried on by the city. City Attorney McKesson emphasized the justice of the petition and announced that he will see if it is possible to insert in the city contracts a clause requiring the contractor to employ residents.

In all probability the council will decide to re[illegible] one general ordinance covering practically all the ordinances now in existence, and then repeal all the old ones. The liquor and franchise ordinances are not to be included in the big blanket one. All will be published in book form.

Pathetic Case Disclosed by Associated Charities

One of the most pathetic cases that has come before the Associated Charities recently, is that of a young colored fellow who just on the eve of graduating from the Boston Law school, broke down with tuberculosis. The young man has made a most heroic fight to secure the education which so few of his race have been able to attain, running away from home because his parents would not consent to his education. He worked his way through Howard university in Washington, D. C. After graduating there he taught in the colored high school in Washington. Then he began his work in the Boston Law school. He would have graduated this coming June. His health broke down last October. Overwork, in addition to the alarming susceptibility of the colored race to tuberculosis, was undoubtedly a factor in his breakdown. Through all his struggle for an education, he had not only to work to keep up a high record of scholarship, but also to earn his living and pay his college expenses.

His classmates in Boston made up a purse for him when he first came to Colorado Springs, six months ago. That money has been exhausted for some little time. Now the young man is too ill to work and entirely destitute.

The Associated Charities makes a special appeal for funds, in order to be able to give this young man such care as he needs.

METER INSPECTOR O. K.

The report made to the authorities, Thursday night, that a fake meter inspector is visiting the houses in the south end of the city, asking to read the electric meters, is erroneous. A duly accredited inspector is making inspections at night in order to check the meters. The heaviest load is on the wires at night, and the Colorado Springs Light, Heat and Power company is anxious to see if the meters register on an even basis. It is thought that the report came from a timid woman, who became frightened when she saw a stranger come up to her door after dark, and telephoned the police.

WILL NOT RECOMMEND PARDON FOR LEE HILL

Lee Hill, colored, who was [illegible] in October, 1910, for 13 [illegible] years in the penitentiary for an attempted criminal assault on Miss [illegible], telegraph operator at a station [illegible] miles south of this city, [illegible] the state board of pardons [illegible] released from the penitentiary [illegible]ing that he was forced by [illegible] the sheriff's office to confess the [illegible].

Hill pleaded guilty in the district court and in passing sentence Judge James Owen said his only regret was that he could not inflict a more severe punishment upon him. A short time later it is said Hill made the statement that he was sorry he had failed in his assault, since he had been punished so severely anyway.

Hill waylaid Miss Heggs as she was going from her home in Fountain to the station where she was a telegrapher and as he was dragging her up the hill from the road her cries attracted a man who was driving by. Hill was forced to drop her to make his escape. He was arrested by the sheriff's office the next morning, identified by Miss Heggs, taken [illegible] where he pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the penitentiary.

"It was one of the most [illegible] cases I had ever heard of," said Judge Owen last night, "and I am [illegible] that Hill is guilty. Unless some new evidence turns up I will most certainly not recommend him for pardon."

Paving Company Closes Contract With Railway

The Hill company, which has the contract for the city street paving, also has closed a contract for that portion of the street paving in the business district to be paid for by the Colorado Springs and Interurban company. Since the work of laying the new tracks requires expert labor the company's own men will do that. The new tracks will be superior to those now in use, being of heavier steel, and steel ties will be used. It is said that the roadbed will not be surpassed by any electric railway company in the country, and it will not be necessary to tear up the paving for many years so far as the roadbed is concerned.

This is the season of the year when mothers feel very much concerned over the frequent colds contracted by their children, and have abundant reason for it, as every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality and paves the way for the more serious diseases that so often follow. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures, and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all dealers.

UNABLE TO IDENTIFY MAN KILLED ON TRACK

An unknown man, who was struck and killed by a Denver & Rio Grande passenger train at Widefield, south of this city, late Thursday afternoon was brought to the undertaking rooms of Fairleys & Law yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, but thus far all efforts of identification have been unsuccessful. Arrangements for the disposal of the body have not been made.

WHO WANTS TO WRITE TO DALTON, GA., GIRL?

Girls who want to correspond with unknown men have taken various various means to do so, the most common being to write the name and address on some article of trade and take the chance of having it fall into the hands of one who will answer. Eggs, chewing gum wrappers and candy boxes have been the best known mediums thus far, but W. W. Cowen, local agent for the Wells, Fargo and company express, yesterday discovered the latest—the reverse side of a money bag secured at the First National bank.

Mr. Cowen took the bag from the bank yesterday, and upon going to his office turned it wrong side out to make sure no bills were inside. In large black letters on one side of the bag appeared the following:

"Miss Edna Shugart, Dalton, Ga."

Mr. Cowen feels sure that the girl is serious and is very anxious to have some one investigate.

A special meeting of the membership committee of the Woman's club will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock before the general meeting of the club.

MOTORCYCLISTS CARELESS

The police department is annoyed by the carelessness of motorcycle owners, many of whom leave their machines standing out in the yard or in the street all night and when they are gone the next morning they cannot account for it.

Yesterday the police located the Shoup machine which was stolen Thursday night near Pring, a small station north of this city. It was returned to its owner with a caution that he be more careful.

FOR SICK, SOUR, BILIOUS STOMACH, INDIGESTION AND GAS TAKE CASCARETS

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases, that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means indigestion, a disordered stomach which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they cure indigestion, because they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended forever. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

S.S.S. RIDS THE SYSTEM OF CATARRH

Catarrh is a blood disease which causes a general inflammation of the inner linings of mucous membranes of the body. The discharge of these delicate surfaces and tissues produces all the well known symptoms of the trouble, such as ringing noises in the head and ears, tight, stuffy feeling in the nose, pains above the eyes, irritation of the throat, sometimes slight fever, and a general feeling of weakness and ill health. Even the lungs become affected by the continual passage of impure blood through them, and there is danger of consumption if the disease is allowed to remain in the system. S. S. S. cures Catarrh because it purifies the blood. It goes into the circulation and removes every particle of the catarrhal matter, making this vital fluid pure, rich and healthy. Then the inflamed membranes begin to heal, every symptom disappears, the constitution is built up and health restored. S. S. S. rids the system of catarrh by attacking the trouble at its head and entirely removing the cause from the blood, thus making a permanent and lasting cure. S. S. S. is made entirely from health-giving roots, herbs and barks, and for this reason is an especially safe and desirable medicine. Book on Catarrh and any medical advice free to all who write. I INVITE EVERY WOMAN

Every woman is invited to consult our Staff of Physicians, Surgeons and Specialists, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N.Y., by letter at my expense R.V. PIERCE, M.D.

There is every reason why women should not trust their delicate constitutions in the hands of unskilled persons. It requires a thorough medical education to appreciate and understand the female organism. There is every reason why she should write a specialist.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For over-worked "worn-out," "run down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine "Favorite Prescription" is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, fainting spells, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the distinctly feminine organs. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

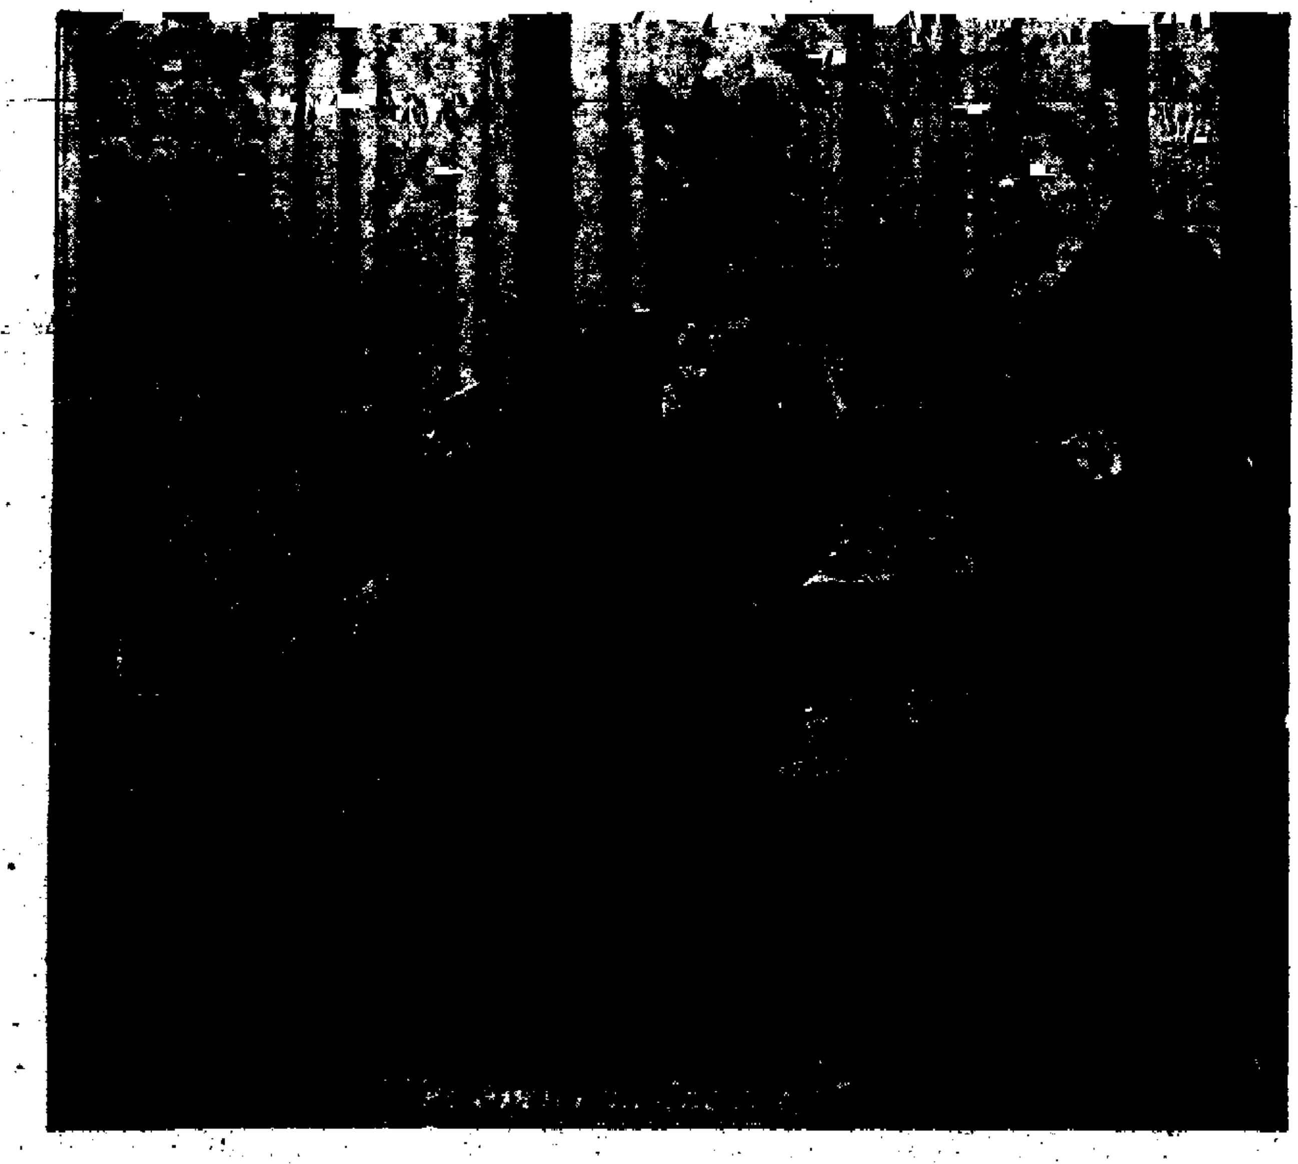
"THE GIRL FROM RECTOR'S" TODAY, MATINEE AND NIGHT

A girl born in France under another name, "The Girl From Rector's," a mischievous, but harmless creature, has been adopted to this country by Paul Potter, who, in the importing process, has constructed what is said to be one of the most laughable farce comedies ever produced. "The Girl From Rector's," which is coming to the Opera house, today, matinee and night, is an adaptation from the French. In its natural state it ran for over two years in Paris and was still tickling the risibilities of the Parisians. It has been also translated into several languages, and the Germans are all in flutter over this convulsive comedy. Even Denmark, the land of Ibsen, is being amused by it. It remained to acclimate this comedy to America, and as it is surrounded by an excellent company of artists it was an instantaneous success, and ran to packed houses for more than a year on Broadway. The company that is to produce it at present is one of exceptional ability, comprising as it does several competent New York favorites. Miss Katherine Raymond, as [illegible], has a most enjoyable reputation in a number of farces which she has been identified with, and the rest of the players are one and all of well-known competency.

Reserved seats are selling at the box office for the evening performance 50c, 75c, $1 and $1.50. Matinee general admission, 25c and 50c. Matinee [illegible] p. m.



SCENE FROM "THE GIRL FROM RECTORS," AS SEEN AT THE OPERA HOUSE, MATINEE AND NIGHT, SATURDAY NEXT, FEBRUARY 17.

GEORGE SIDNEY WILL BE SEEN AT MATINEE AND NIGHT, FEBRUARY 22

George Sidney, who is to be seen in the new musical farce, "Busy Izzy," at the Opera house Thursday, February 22, has amply demonstrated his ability as a laughmaker. Sidney is a comedian of rare unction and original methods; and his long connection with the Ward & Vokes company, in the character of Izzy, the little Hebrew, has made him a following all his own; who will anxiously await the coming of the new star in the musical firmament. Seats ready Tuesday next, at box office, for both performances.

EAST LYNNE AT THE MAJESTIC TODAY

Don't fail to see this great feature film; the story has been read too often and the play seen by too many, to write an entire synopsis of it. Suffice to say that Margaret Snow of Denver in the title role of Lady Isabel is superb in her acting, and is supported in the stellar role by the incomparable members of the Thanhouser Stock company. William Russel and James Cruze—two of the highest-priced photoplay actors in America, the famous Thanhouser kid is also in the cast and the production is one of the best picture plays ever presented to an audience anytime, anywhere. Theaters showing this production have had to turn people away at every performance and it is with sorrow we must inform our patrons that we can secure this great feature for one day only and that is Saturday. Come and bring the children, come early; will be shown continuously from 2 o'clock until 11 o'clock and everyone in Colorado Springs should see it. There is no advance in price for this feature, 5 cents is all it costs and this is within the reach of all. We wish to call the attention of everybody in the city to our announcement in Sunday's Gazette. It will interest you and be of value to you; don't forget announcement in Sunday's Gazette.

MAY ROBSON IN "A NIGHT OUT"

"A Night Out" is the title of May Robson's new comedy, based upon the question of hereditary influence and the adventures of an elderly woman, who assumes the direction of her two grandsons, who are intensely interested in the kaleidoscope of the ever-changing movements of the "Great White Way," as seen on "A Night Out." Miss Robson's naturalness in the portrayal of character is as complete and as convincing as it is humorous, not alone the wholesome endeavors nor the cleverness of well-arranged situations, but upon a natural interpretation of character well developed and [illegible]. Miss Robson adds to her [illegible] of the absurd power of transition from the farcical to the [illegible] of the [illegible]. The swift [illegible] of [illegible] are not difficult to acquire, but apparently it is quite natural with this gifted actress, and there is [illegible] in her sphere of acting. Always bright, interesting and convincing. "A Night Out" will be presented at the Opera house on Wednesday, February 21, for one performance only. Miss Robson will be supported by a company of exceptional merit. Seats ready Monday. Prices 50c to $1.

EAST LYNNE TODAY AT MAJESTIC FIVE CENTS

East Lynne is one of the greatest [illegible] Majestic today. [illegible] gripping [illegible] has not either read it or seen it played at the theater. Few, we venture to say, [illegible] are familiar with any other story that ever was penned or dramatized.

And today you may see it at the Majestic for only five cents. It is enacted by the greatest company of dramatic actors who ever played before the motion picture machine—the Thanhouser company. That means impressive and beautiful scenic setting, beautiful costuming and [illegible] acting. There are two reels of it and no one with a drop of red blood or a spark of human sympathy but what is moved to the depths of his being by this portrayal.

Every emotion known to the human heart is played upon in this masterpiece of fiction. It makes an impression that never fades. No mind ever conceived a situation more tense with interest than that of the disguised mother at the bedside of her dying son—and yet the tale ends happily. There will be two other films, besides the orchestra music—an hour and a half program for only five cents.

"THE GAMBLERS" TO BE SEEN HERE

"The Gamblers" will be the attraction at the Opera house Saturday, February 24. This splendidly constructed and absorbingly interesting new play by Charles Klein established the record for long runs among the plays of the past season, remaining at Maxine Elliott's theater, New York, for over 200 consecutive performances.

The story deals with a young financier who follows in the footsteps of others desiring to amass a fortune in too short a time. He finds himself involved with the federal government through the misuse of the funds of a banking institution of which he is the guiding genius. At the moment he obtains the sum needed to straighten out the financial tangle, one of his partners, terror-stricken at the prospect of a jail sentence, turns over to the prosecuting attorney certain documents that are sufficient evidence to send to prison the heads of the bank, including the young man's aged father, who is innocent of wrongdoing.

LAST CHANCE TO SEE 1,000 ISLANDS PICTURE

The semiweekly attractions at the Lyric are scoring a big success. The picture program is the kind that pleases. That Edison travelogue is a sure feature; 50-mile trip through the Thousand Islands. Don't miss that one. It's a $500 trip by rail and boat. You know that an Edison comedy is funny, especially their "Bachelor's Waterloo," the first film to illustrate the leap year possibility. Kalem's "Russian Peasant" is founded on a story from real life among the peasantry and nobility of Russia. The Biograph's "Old Bookkeeper" is a story of life as we often see it. Strong and well acted with a good ending. And the way those "special attractions" pleased the audience was most satisfactory to the management. Attaway and Green, in their comedy sketch, "At the Circus," must be seen to be appreciated. It's running over with good clean fun. And the Merkel sisters, in their singing and clog dancing, are certainly fine, and were enjoyed by all. Those special attractions are a real treat. Evening, 10 cents. Matinee, 5 cents.

SPORT NEWS

HOBLITZEL BALKS AT SALARY OFFERED

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 16.—Richard Carlton Hoblitzel, D. D. S., has formally joined the very small brigade of holdouts connected with the great American sport. He says he hasn't signed a contract and that he really doesn't know whether he will.

Manager O'Day talked with him twice during his short stay in Cincinnati and submitted figures which Dr. Richard Carlton Hobbs doesn't think are exactly right. The genial first baseman has thought over those numerals and says they must be raised a bit.

Hobbs is going to visit his folks in Parkersburg within a fortnight and says he will remain there probably until after the club leaves for the south. Manager O'Day is in Chicago for the next three weeks and will return to Cincinnati about four days before the first batch of club members take the rattlers for Columbus.

Inasmuch as President Herrmann has left the contracts entirely in O'Day's hands the matter of Hobby's salary will be decided by the latter gentleman. He may come across with what his infielder wants and then he may not. That remains to be seen.

"So far as I am concerned I don't care very much whether I ever play baseball again," said Hobbs. "In the three years which I have spent as a member of the Reds I have given the club my absolute best. Should it not desire to pay me what I think it ought to I can go to my practice here in Cincinnati and make just as much if not more money and not work one-tenth as hard.

"I am not unreasonable in what I ask. But I know what other first basemen in the game are getting and I also know that I don't get near as much as they do even though they are below me in the list of hitters and defensive fielders.

"For three seasons I have played almost every game with the club. In that time I have been treated very fairly by former Manager Clark Griffith. True, I didn't think he paid me as much as I should have had, but I considered that I was learning the game better every year and so played out my three contracts.

"Now I think I am worth more than they have offered me. I told Manager O'Day that I would not consider the price he stated. He asked me to think over the matter for a few days, but I told him then I would not play for the terms he named.

"So far as the playing is concerned an infielder should have just as much, if not more money than any outfielder or pitcher. He is put to more danger than any of them and works all the time too. A pitcher labors but one day in three or four, and some of the outfielders labor hardly any.

"To play on the defense a first baseman must be in readiness to capture balls hit in his direction, take throws from all parts of the diamond and watch that none of those chaps with the 'rough stuff,' such as Knabe and others, cut his lower extremities to pieces.

"At bat he must be of importance to remain in the modern game. You very rarely see a first baseman—never in major company—who isn't a good hitter. That is one of the prime requisites of his baseball standing.

"Therefore—coming back to the original question—why should I continue playing ball if the money isn't in sight? Why should I take the chances which are necessary should they not want to pay me for them?"

WEST SIDERS GRAB LAST NIGHT'S GAME

Superior stick work won for the West Side team in last night's indoor baseball contest with the Holy Name team, and sent the hopes of the Catholics of annexing the city championship glimmering. The final score was 17 to 12. The contest was played at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium before a large crowd.

The Holy Names were in poor form. The snap and vigor which has characterized their work in previous games was sadly missing. Ill luck also counted in their defeat.

On the other hand, the West Siders were swatting the sphere on the nose and running wild on the bases. When they got to first they usually went on around. They touched H. Haas for 11 safeties, and most of them came when they were needed. Nine hits were collected by the Holy Names off Fish.

The West Siders got off with a good lead and kept at it until the last. H. Haas was effective in only one or two innings. The Holy Names gave indications of recovering their batting eyes in the last inning, but a double, with the bases full, crippled all their chances. It is almost an impossibility for the Holy Names to overtake the lead of the Robbins team in the City league race. H. Haas and N. Haas, for the Holy Names, and Fish and Nostrum, for the West Siders, composed the batteries.

PAUL KIMBALL WINS WESTERN HANDICAP

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 16.—Paul Kimball of Waukesha, Wis., was the winner of the Great Western handicap at the interstate shooting tournament that closed here today. He won by eight live birds in the shoot-off.

The international target match was won by J. Graham, Ingleside, Ill., who tied with E. W. Arnold of Larned, Kan., each scoring 97 out of 100, and Graham winning finally 23 to 22.

High professional for the week was George W. Maxwell, Hastings, Neb. He broke 448 targets out of 475.

BAKER AND CORHAN TRADED TO MINORS

By IRVING VAUGHAN.

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Roy Corhan, shortstop who lost a major league berth by a stroke of fate, and Jess Baker, southpaw of promise, were dropped from the White Sox roster yesterday. A deal with the San Francisco club on the receiving end was put through after two weeks of dickering, and these two youngsters will work under the watchful eye of Danny Long next season and perhaps the season following, provided they fail to develop enough to deserve recalling to the house of Callahan.

Right in line with the facts of the transfer of talent to the coast league club Callahan expressed the opinion that the veteran Lee Tannehill will hold a regular berth in the Sox infield, either at short or second. This depends upon what men are uncovered for the jobs. It is even possible that if conditions warrant, "Old Reliable" will be seen in action around the initial sack.

The return of Corhan and Baker to the minors cuts short a stay in big company covering about a year. Both came to the Sox last spring, Corhan from the Wichita club and Baker from the Spokane club of the Northwest league. Baker, while about the most promising left-hander uncovered in days, failed to convince that he was fit for major work, but with Corhan the case was the opposite.

He was shot into the shortstop position through an injury to Zeider almost at the start of the season and for a while he was considered a wonder. His fielding was a revelation, but the "bean ball" wielded by Russell Ford at New York on June 8 put a check to his work and proved the incident which finally sent him skidding back to the little fellows. Corhan was always weak with the willow, but he showed signs of climbing in the swat columns just about the time that the "beaning" took him from the Sox line-up, to which he never returned.

Baker is one of the kind who fail because of being sadly deficient in one respect. This was lack of ability to field his position and other teams in the league were quick to learn and take advantage of his weakness. His control was fairly good and his wide curve ball was almost unhittable, and with proper teachings to overcome his inability to field Callahan thinks he will some day be a star flinger on the Sox staff.

The dropping of Corhan and Baker will most likely be followed by further activity with the pruning knife. It might also be said that one or two new faces may be added to the squad before the spring trip, as Cal is anxious to take the full quota of forty men to the training camp at Waco, Texas.

Mordecai Brown, Cub holdout, is still on the fence, and from what he says there is not much chance of his deciding immediately upon whether he will continue as a leading light in the national pastime or quit entirely. One thing is certain, however, and that is that Brown will not accompany the Cubs when they start for New Orleans March 2.

He made this known yesterday when asked if he had made preparations to go South, by replying "No chance." This does not necessarily mean that he will never sign a contract, but at least he will keep C. Webb Murphy up in the air until the last moment. So far Murphy has made no effort to gather his "three-fingered" star to the fold, as he has failed to tender a contract.

Receipt for Weak Men--Free

Send Name and Address Today—You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Vigorous.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened manhood, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, unnatural drains, or the follies of youth, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So, I have determined to send a copy of the prescription, free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope, to any man who will write me for it.

BRADSTREET TRADE REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

Cumulative improvement is the chief characteristic of this week's trade reports. Demand is expanding, and betterment is expected in those centers that have heretofore been particularly quiet.

The pace is only steady, but it seems to be consistent and conservative optimism is developing at a greater rate. Mail order concerns have done well, thanks to those who buy in small lots and trade in dry goods, wearing apparel, shoes, groceries and other essentials reflects the influences of slow but steady improvement.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending February 15 were 305, against 320 last week, 235 in the like week of 1911, 269 in 1910, 282 in 1909 and 326 in 1908.

Business failures in Canada for the week number 31, which compares with 26 last week and 34 in the corresponding week of 1911.

Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending February 15, aggregate 3,299,137 bushels, against 3,816,458 last week and 2,180,921 this week last year. Corn exports for the week are 1,532,566 bushels, against 1,482,048 last week, and 2,028,198 in 1911.

R. G. DUN WEEKLY REVIEW

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—The R. G. Dun & Co. weekly review will say:

Conditions are still favorable to the realization of the promise held out by the developments of the last three months, namely, of a year of wider activity than 1911. The severe cold weather since the middle of December has to some extent, and especially in railroad transportation in the iron and steel industry and in railroad distribution, held this promised development in check. The volume of business, however, is large, and in some directions notably so.

On certain finished lines lower prices are now the rule in iron and steel.

The cotton goods market has strengthened materially and the demand is broad and seasonably active. Many mills making brown staple goods, print cloths and heavy colored cottons, are now under order for two or three months ahead, and bleached cottons, sheetings and pillow tubings, prints, denims, plaids and other piece goods are stronger. Export trade is good. India has bought 4,000 bales of standard drills and China small lots of sheetings, as well as 3,000 bales of canton flannels.

The New England footwear market is quiet, but new business is coming forward at a better rate than formerly, and factories continue fairly busy on old contracts. Prices are strong. The recent lull in the leather trade seems to have been broken, and buyers, after finding that concessions were not obtainable, have entered the market, and liberal sales have been med, especially of sole leather. Further activity has developed in hides.

HE CHANGED

From the Detroit Free Press.

"Does you son take after you?"

"I used to think he was going to, but now that he's in college he shows every sign of taking after his mother."

"That so?"

"Yes, the only thing he's made since he's been there is the debating society."

CRIPPLE CREEK MINES

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 16.—Charles Hollencamp, a well known lease operator of this district, leasing on the Silver Tip mine on Bull hill, has made an important discovery and commenced to ship on Friday. Working through the old incline shaft—the discovery shaft—on the east side of the claim, Hollencamp has opened up an ore shoot that laid within a few feet of the end of the drift carried by former operators. He has from three to four feet of ore exposed that will ship at about one ounce gold to the ton for the coarse rock and between 1½ to 2 ounces gold to the ton for the screenings. A carload shipment of screenings was loaded out for shipment to the Golden Cycle mill at Colorado City, Friday morning. The mine is owned by the United Gold Mines company.

Free Coinage Gold Mining Co.

Five sets of leasers are now engaged in the development of the Pinto mine on Bull hill, owned by the Free Coinage Gold Mining company, and the majority of these operators are producing. Teams were hauling out ore from the property Thursday and Friday. The Wilson and Pueblo mines of this company are also active under lease and producing.

Abe Lincoln Leased.

The Abe Lincoln mine, in Poverty gulch, owned by the Stratton estate, has been leased to Murray Colgin and associates of this city and the plant was steamed up Thursday. Colgin was recently operating a block of the mine under a sublease, and has ore in sight.

El Paso Books Close.

The stock transfer books of the El Paso Consolidated Gold Mining company will close Saturday, February 17, preparatory to the dividend made payable on February 29. The amount to be distributed is $29,500.00.

NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—The stock market today differed in no important particular from the preceding days of the week. Trading was light, and Steel, Union Pacific and Reading constituted much more than half of the total output.

There was persistent selling of Steel, which was supposed to emanate from leading speculators. The Harrimans, which were a feature on the previous day, evinced some heaviness.

The early rise in the coppers was a more natural result of another advance in the price of the metal abroad, and was accompanied by rumors of a further advance in the price of the metal. The street, however, has shown little inclination to trail along.

London was little more than a mere looker-on here, selling some Steel and Union Pacific and buying moderately of Amalgamated Copper. London, in conjunction with Paris and New York, has arranged for a loan of $45,000,000 by Tokio for the purpose of public utilities, while Paris was negotiating for a renewal of the $12,000,000 Lake Shore notes placed there a year ago.

Forecasts indicate few changes as a result of the week's movement in cash. It is likely that a slight gain may accrue to the banks, while the loan account is as usual a matter of conjecture. Ease of money all over the country continues, but the recent demand for bonds, due in a measure to this accumulation, has flattened out.

The bond market followed the lead of stocks in that it was dull and irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,530,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Despite complaints that the winter crop in the central states showed signs of serious damage, wheat today closed at a net decline of ⅛c to ¼c. The final tone, however, was firm. Latest trading left corn ⅛c to ⅜c down, oats unchanged to ⅛c to ¼c off, and hog products less expensive by [illegible].

Continued big receipts northwest and heavier shipments from Argentina formed the chief reasons why the bears were able to maintain control. A cable from Buenos Ayres to a Chicago house stated that the labor troubles were entirely out of the way. Both India and Australia sent word, too, of having forwarded increased supplies for Europe. At the same time receipts of loaded cars at primary terminals in the United States far exceeded the figures of a year ago. Between the opening and the close May ranged from $1.01@1.01⅛ to $1.01¼@⅜, with the last sale at $1.01¼@⅜, just ⅛c under the level of 24 hours before.

Corn was affected by the heaviness of wheat. Big receipts also caused selling, simply as the mild weather promised an even larger movement of cars. May fluctuated from 68@68⅛c to 68⅝@¾c, closing ⅛c net lower but firm at 68⅛@¼c. Cash grades were slow. No. 2 yellow was not quoted. Oats held relatively steady owing to good buying on the part of the cash houses. Outside limits touched by the May option were 52⅝c and 52⅜@½c, with the close exactly the same as last night at 52½c.

In provisions there was a more decided break than for some time back. Accumulating local stocks received the credit. The blackboards tonight showed pork down 15c to 25c and the rest of the list off 7½c to 10@12½c.

PASTOR TELLS HOW TO MAKE SALOON LOOK LIKE 30 CENTS

DENVER, Feb. 16. That the American woman on the street is heathenish in appearance is the opinion of the Rev. Carl Eklund of Chicago, who has recently accepted the position of pastor of the First Swedish Methodist church and who has been conducting Thursday afternoon services for women.

He says women love gaudy colors and dress to display their figures to the best advantage.

He declares that "a plain home girl is worth all of the kangaroo, hobble-gowned, gum-chewing kind."

The Rev. Mr. Eklund says the American marriage is founded on infatuation.

"It is the small foxes that destroy the vine," he declares. "And the small foxes of marriage are luxury, nagging, false economy, jealousy and flirting. They undermine the American life, and fill our divorce courts to overflowing. Better 57 times for a woman to be an old maid than the wife of a drunkard without milk and bread in the cupboard to eat."

The Rev. Mr. Eklund says that the Bible has been lost in the average American home and it rests with the mother of the home to restore it, for the father is too busy with other things.

The Rev. Mr. Eklund also pleads for the boy in the home. He declares that if the boy is given a room of his own and furnished amusement that will amuse him the saloon will "look like 30 cents" in no time.

Seattle is grading its steep hills. The work is done by hydraulic sluicing. The present plan calls for the removal of 34,000,000 cubic yards of material.

HOBLITZEL BALKS AT SALARY OFFERED

CINCINNATI, [illegible] Hoblitzel [illegible] great [illegible] doesn't know [illegible].

"[illegible] I don't think he paid me [illegible] I should have had, but I [illegible] I was learning [illegible] and [illegible] played [illegible] contracts.

"[illegible] far as the playing is concerned an infielder should have just as much [illegible] not more money than any outfielder or pitcher. He is put to more danger than any of them and works all the time too. A pitcher labors but one day in three or four, and some of the outfielders labor hardly any.

"To play on the defense a first baseman must be in readiness to capture balls hit in his direction, take throws from all parts of the diamond and watch that none of those chaps with the 'rough stuff,' such as Knabe and others, cut his lower extremities to pieces.

"At bat he must be of importance to ten[illegible] in the modern game. You very rarely see a first baseman never in major company who isn't a good hitter. That is one of the prime requisites [illegible] baseball standing.

"Therefore, coming back to the original question—why should I continue playing ball if the money isn't in sight? Why should I take the chances which are necessary should they not want [illegible] me for them?"

WEST SIDERS GRAB LAST NIGHT'S GAME

Superior stick work won for the West Side team in last night's indoor baseball contest with the Holy Name team and sent the hopes of the Catholics of annexing the city championship glimmering. The final score was 17 to 12. The contest was played at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium before a large crowd.

The Holy Names were in poor form. The snap and vigor which has characterized their work in previous games was sadly missing. Ill luck also counted in their defeat.

On the other hand, the West Siders were swatting the sphere on the nose and running wild on the bases. When they got to first, they usually went on around. They touched H. Haas for 11 safeties, and most of them came when they were needed. Nine hits were collected by the Holy Names off Fish.

The West Siders got off with a good lead and kept at it until the last. H. Haas was effective in only one or two innings. The Holy Names gave indications of recovering their batting eyes in the last inning, but a double, with the bases full, crippled all their chances. It is almost an impossibility for the Holy Names to overtake the lead of the Robbins team in the City league race. H. Haas and N. Haas for the Holy Names and Fish and Nystrum for the West Siders composed the batteries.

PAUL KIMBALL WINS WESTERN HANDICAP

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 16.—Paul Kimball of Waukesha, Wis., was the winner of the Great Western handicap at the interstate shooting tournament that closed here today. He won by eight live birds in the shoot-off.

The international target match was won by J. Graham, Ingleside, Ill., who tied with E. W. Arnold of Larned, Kan., each scoring 97 out of 100, and Graham winning finally 23 to 22.

High professional for the week was George W. Maxwell, Hastings, Neb. He broke 448 targets out of 475.

BAKER AND CORHAN TRADED TO MINORS

By IRVING VAUGHAN.

CHICAGO, Feb. [illegible] [illegible] Roy Corhan, [illegible] league berth [illegible] and Jess Baker, southpaw [illegible] were dropped from the White Sox roster yesterday. A deal with the San Francisco [illegible] was [illegible] after two weeks of dickering [illegible] youngsters will [illegible] big eye of Dann[illegible] last season [illegible] perhaps the [illegible] recalling the [illegible].

Right [illegible] the facts of the transfer [illegible] expressed the opinion that the veteran Lee Tannehill will hold a regular berth in the Sox infield, either at short or second. This depends upon what men are uncovered for the Sox. It is even possible that if conditions warrant Old Reliable will be seen [illegible] around the initial sack.

The return of Corhan and Baker to the minors cuts short a stay in big company covering about a year. Both came to the Sox last spring, Corhan from the Wichita club and Baker from the Spokane club of the Northwest league. Baker, while about the most promising left-hander uncovered in days, failed to convince that he was fit for major work, but with Corhan the case was the opposite.

He was shot into the shortstop position through an injury to Zeider almost at the start of the season and for a while he was considered a wonder. His fielding was a revelation, but the "bean ball" wielded by Russell Ford at New York on June 8 put a check to his work and proved the incident which finally sent him skidding back to the little fellows. Corhan was always weak with the willow, but he showed signs of climbing in the swat columns just about the time that the "beaning" took him from the Sox line-up, to which he never returned.

Baker is one of the kind who fail because of being sadly deficient in one respect. This was lack of ability to field his position and other teams in the league were quick to learn and take advantage of his weakness. His control was fairly good and his wide curve ball was almost unhittable, and with proper teachings to overcome his inability to field Callahan thinks he will some day be a star flinger on the Sox staff.

The dropping of Corhan and Baker will most likely be followed by further activity with the pruning knife. It might also be said that one or two new faces may be added to the squad before the spring trip, as Cal is anxious to take the full quota of forty men to the training camp at Waco, Texas.

Mordecai Brown, Cub holdout, is still on the fence, and from what he says there is not much chance of his deciding immediately upon whether he will continue as a leading light in the national pastime or quit entirely. One thing is certain, however, and that is that Brown will not accompany the Cubs when they start for New Orleans March 2.

He made this known yesterday when asked if he had made preparations to go South, by replying "No chance." This does not necessarily mean that he will never sign a contract, but at least he will keep C. Webb Murphy up in the air until the last moment. So far Murphy has made no effort to gather his "three fingered" star to the fold, as he has failed to tender a contract.

FERNS WON BY KNOCK OUT

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 16.—Clarence Ferns of Kansas City knocked out Dave Deshler of Boston in the ninth round of a scheduled 10-round fight before the Grand Avenue A. C. club here tonight.

HIS REGRET

From the Chicago Record-Herald.

"You used to say," she complained, "that you counted that day lost when you did not hear the sound of my voice."

"Yes I know," he replied, "and I shall never cease to long for those dear lost days."

Receipt for Weak Men--Free

Send Name and Address To-day--You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Vigorous

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened manhood, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, unnatural drains or the follies of youth, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes without any additional help or medicine that I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So, I have determined to send a copy of the prescription, free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men, and I am convinced it is the surest acting combination for the cure of deficient manhood and vigor failure ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow man to send them a copy in confidence, so that any man, anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so, cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 3948 Luck Bldg., Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid receipt in a plain ordinary sealed envelope, free of charge.

BRADSTREET TRADE REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Bradstreet's tomorrow, will say:

"Cumulative improvement is the chief characteristic of this week's trade reports. Demand is expanding, and betterment is expected in those centers that have heretofore been particularly quiet.

The pace is only steady, but it seems to be consistent and conservative optimism is developing at a greater rate. Mail order concerns have done well, thanks to those who buy in small lots, and trade in dry goods, wearing apparel, shoes, groceries and other essentials reflects the influences of slow but steady improvement.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending February 15 were 305, against 320 last week, 235 in the like week of 1911, 269 in 1910, 252 in 1909 and 326 in 1908.

Business failures in Canada for the week number 31, which compares with 26 last week and 34 in the corresponding week of 1911.

Wheat including flour exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending February 15, aggregate 3,299,137 bushels, against 3,816,458 last week and 2,180,921 this week last year.

Corn exports for the week are 1,532,566 bushels, against 1,482,048 last week, and 2,028,198 in 1911.

R. G. DUN WEEKLY REVIEW

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—The R. G. Dun & Co. weekly review will say:

Conditions are still favorable to the realization of the promise held out by the developments of the last three months, namely, of a year of wider activity than 1911. The severe cold weather since the middle of December has to some extent, and especially in railroad transportation in the iron and steel industry and in railroad distribution, held this promised development in check. The volume of business, however, is large, and in some directions notably so.

On certain finished lines lower prices are now the rule in iron and steel.

The cotton goods market has strengthened materially and the demand is broad and seasonably active. Many mills making brown staple goods, print cloths and heavy colored cottons, are now under order for two or three months ahead and bleached cottons, sheetings and pillow tubings, prints, denims, plaids and other piece goods are stronger. Export trade is good. India has bought 4,000 bales of standard drills, and China small lots of sheetings, as well as 3,000 bales of canton flannels.

The New England footwear market is quiet but new business is coming forward at a better rate than formerly, and factories continue fairly busy on old contracts. Prices are strong. The recent lull in the leather trade seems to have been broken, and buyers, after finding that concessions were not obtainable, have entered the market, and liberal sales have been made, especially of sole leather. Further activity has developed in hides.

HE CHANGED

From the Detroit Free Press.

"Does your son take after you?"

"I used to think he was going to, but now that he's in college he shows every sign of taking after his mother."

"That so?"

"Yes; the only thing he's made since he's been there is the debating society."

CRIPPLE CREEK MINES

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 16.—Charles H. Hollencamp, a well known [illegible] of this district, leasing on the Silver Top mine on Bull hill, has made an important discovery and commenced to ship on Friday. Working through the old incline shaft, the discovery shaft—on the east side of the claim, Hollencamp has opened [illegible] ore shoot that laid within a few feet of the end of the drift carried by former operators. He has from three to four feet of ore exposed that will ship at about one ounce gold to the ton for the coarse rock and between 1½ to 2 ounces gold to the ton for the screenings. A carload shipment of screenings was loaded out for shipment to the Golden Cycle mill at Colorado City Friday morning. The mine is owned by the United Gold Mines company.

Free Coinage Gold Mining Co.

Five sets of lessees are now engaged in the development of the Pinto mine on Bull hill, owned by the Free Coinage Gold Mining company, and the majority of these operators are producing. Teams were hauling out ore from the property Thursday and Friday. The Wilson and Pueblo mines of this company are also active under lease and producing.

Abe Lincoln Leased.

The Abe Lincoln mine in Poverty gulch, owned by the Stratton estate, has been leased to Murray Colgin and associates of this city and the plant was steamed up Thursday. Colgin was recently operating a block of the mine under a sublease, and has ore in sight.

El Paso Books Close.

The stock transfer books of the El Paso Consolidated Gold Mining company will close Saturday, February 17, preparatory to the dividend made payable on February 29. The amount to be distributed is $29,500.00.

NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—The stock market today differed in no important particular from the preceding days of the week. Trading was light and Steel, Union Pacific and Reading constituted much more than half of the total output.

There was persistent selling of Steel which was supposed to emanate from leading speculators. The Harrimans, which were a feature in the previous day, evinced some heaviness.

The early rise in the coppers was a more natural result of another advance in the price of the metal abroad and was accompanied by rumors of a further advance in the price of the metal. The street, however, has shown little inclination to trade along.

London was little more than a mere broker here, selling some Steel and Union Pacific and buying moderately of Amalgamated Copper. London, in conjunction with Paris and New York, has arranged for a loan of $4[illegible] to Tokio for the purpose of public utilities, while Paris was negotiating for a renewal of the $12,000,000 Lake Shore notes placed there a year ago.

Forecasts indicate few changes as a result of the week's movement in cash. It is likely that a slight gain may accrue to the banks, while the loan account is as usual a matter of conjecture. Ease of money all over the country continues, but the recent demand for bonds, due in a measure to this accumulation, has flattened out.

The bond market followed the lead of stocks in that it was dull and irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,539,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Despite complaints that [illegible] crop in the [illegible] States [illegible] serious damage [illegible] closed at a net decline of ⅛ [illegible]. The final tone, however, was firm. Latest trading left corn ⅛ [illegible] and oats unchanged to ⅛ to ¼c off, and [illegible] provisions [illegible].

Continued big receipts northwest and heavier shipments from Argentina formed the chief reasons why the bears were able to maintain control. A cable from Buenos Ayres to a Chicago house stated that the labor troubles were entirely out of the way. Both India and Australia sent word too of having forwarded increased supplies for Europe. At the same time receipts of loaded cars at primary terminals in the United States far exceeded the figures of a year ago. Between the opening and the close May ranged from $1.01@$1.01¼ to $1.01⅛@⅝, with the last sale at $1.01⅝@¾, just ⅛ under the level of 24 hours before.

Corn was affected by the heaviness of wheat. Big receipts also caused selling, simply as the mild weather promised an even larger movement of cars. May fluctuated from 65@65⅛c to 65⅜@¾c, closing ⅛c net lower but firm at 65⅜@⅝c. Cash grades were slow. No. 2 yellow was not quoted. Oats held relatively steady owing to good buying on the part of the cash houses. Outside limits touched by the May option were 52⅝c and 52⅞@53c, with the close exactly the same as last night at 52⅞c.

In provisions there was a more decided break than for some time back. Accumulating local stocks received the credit. The blackboards tonight showed pork down 15c to 25c and the rest of the list off 7½c to 10@12½c.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 16.—The effectiveness of the fire drill saved the lives of many children today when fire broke out in a public school here and in a few minutes enveloped the entire building in flames. The school, costing $40,000, will be a total loss.

When the fire signal was sounded the 830 pupils and 20 teachers marched out without panic. A few minutes later the building was a mass of flames.

MANITOU DEPARTMENT

TO ENGAGE MIDLAND BAND

The special committee of the council has agreed to accept the contract of the Colorado Midland band for the coming summer season. It is understood that this will be recommended to the council at its next meeting, next Tuesday night, when the contract probably will be signed. The proposition from the Oklahoma band was rejected.

The concerts will be given three times a week, beginning about the middle of June and continuing until the first of September.

AFTER LECTURE COURSE

Already plans are under way to secure a lecture course to be given in the new auditorium here this summer if the building can be completed in time. William Jennings Bryan and former Senator A. J. Beveridge can be secured. The business men will try to make the course a feature of the summer in the Pikes Peak region.

MANITOU NOTES

Mr. Case and daughter of Fort Wayne, Ind., are at the Belle Aire. He is in Manitou to purchase a home.
